SENATOR BORAH rhetorically appeals from the "gagged" Senate to the "ungagged" people. And he dares make to the people a speech only one-fifth as long as he had already made in the Senate. If he had gone much beyond that, the audience would have walked out and the janitor would have turned off the lights.

It was no "debate" that was shut off in the Senate. That was already finished. Every senator, including Senator Borah, had said all he had to say; every argument had been made and repeated and fully considered; the debate—if debate means argument—was complete.

WHAT the obstructionists wanted was not more discussion in the Senate, but time to stir up agitation among the people. But they had already had three years for that, with the result that practically all the agitation was on the other side. Three years ago a small minority, misrepresentatively in possession of the Senate committee, had defied two Presidents and denied the Senate the right to consider the question. Finally, to save an extra session, they consented to a date six months later when the debate might begin. Then the debate went on for two months, until everybody had said his say. And now they cry "gag" because they were not able to obstruct for still another two years, in the desperate hope of ultimately turning the popular tide.

DURING those three years the conventions of both parties met and endorsed the World Court; the House of Representatives, after going home and consulting the people, voted for it eleven to one; and practically every articulate voice of organized opinion in America declared for it. If there was any seething mass of inarticulate opposition, surely these three years gave time to uncover it. And if minorities have the right to be heard and to demand delay until they are heard, surely this minority has had a right to be heard. In fact, there has been any "gagging" done, it has been by the act of Senator Borah's own committee in stopping the mouth of the Senate for three years from even discussing a matter for which two Presidents, both parties, practically all the people who expressed themselves, and over four-fifths of the Senate were demanding consideration. That packed committee is the champion gagger of the world.

GREAT triumph! Sixty members of Congress joined in the spectacular "wet" drive in Washington. There are 531 members in the two Houses of Congress—435 in the House and 96 in the Senate. So the "wets" usually succeeded in lining up a little over one-third of them. Supposing, as a large estimate, that there are as many more who might vote wet, but are not excited enough over it to join the parade—that would make one-fifth. And that is about as far as the agitation has gone.

COMES still another ingenious amateur lawyer, to refute the contention so often made in this country that Congress could not constitutionally pass a law under a dry constitution. This is the argument: Under a decision of the Supreme Court made long ago, the Constitution does not automatically apply to the Philippines, but Congress may, by statute, extend any part of it to the islands. Congress has done so with the first ten amendments, but not with the main body of the Constitution nor with the amendments after the tenth. So, since Congress has applied only part of the Constitution to the Philippines, it is argued that it might do the same for California. Of course the difference is that the whole Constitution applies to California, whether Congress wishes it to do so or not, while only such parts of the Constitution apply to the Philippines as Congress chooses expressly to enact. Even slavery is not illegal in the Philippines unless Congress says so, and slavery did in fact continue in Mindanao and Sulu for some time after the establishment of American government. But no one contends that Congress could constitutionally pass a law legalizing slavery in California. Neither can it, for any state or all of them, constitutionally pass any law legalizing liquor that is intoxicating so long as the Constitution itself prohibits those liquors.

THE Socialist party of California has been meeting, and has agreed on candidates for the state offices. Never mind who they are. They are, in fact, some of them very good people; but nobody cares. Nobody is even interested in the Socialist ticket except the few members of the party, and they do not care who the candidates are. Under their rules they vote for them anyway, whoever they are. It is all a gesture, and even as a gesture, nobody particularly notices it. The point is that this is the only important country in the world in which that could happen. In every parliament in Europe the Socialists are an important, and in some the dominant element. Even in Japan and in India they have to be reckoned with. Here they count so little that nobody bothers to count them.

ENTENTE BY BRITAIN AND JAPAN SEEN

Morgenthau Points to Dangers Threatening to Involve Islands in Orient SPEAKS TO STUDENTS

Former U. S. Ambassador To Turkey Advises Joining Hands with America

(By United Press) MANILA, Feb. 27.—Japanese and British problems in the Pacific, which may bring forth an entente, constitute a menace to the Philippines, Henry Morgenthau, former American ambassador to Turkey, told Filipino university students, in an address here.

"Neither Japan nor Britain would attack the United States," said Morgenthau, "but if India troubles Britain and Japan blocks Russia, it appears likely Japan would ask England for a free hand in invading the Philippines, that is unless America would be willing to enter the fight."

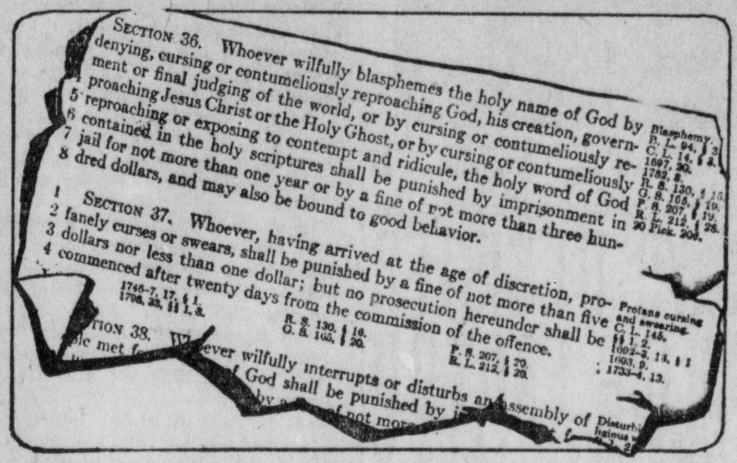

Role in World Affairs The Philippines will play an important part in future readjustment of world policies on the Pacific, Morgenthau contended, and he advised the Filipinos to seek a partnership with the United States as a matter of insurance against future trouble.

After warning his audience that independent statehood would experience a dangerous cruise without a pilot, the speaker said he favored independence, but suggested that an American committee co-operate with the older Filipinos in reaching a solution of the problem.

Covenant Day Designated Reminding the U. S. government of its promise to free the Philippines, the supreme council has designated August 28 as Covenant day, when the preamble to the Jones act will be read at meetings throughout the islands. The Jones act, which states it has always been the intention of the United States to free the Philippines, was passed by congress and approved August 29, 1916.

BLASPHEMY TRIAL DECISION PLACED IN HANDS OF JUDGE

Section of page from Massachusetts book of ancient and quaint laws on human conduct, on which conviction of Anthony Binba, Brooklyn editor, is sought, for denying the existence of a Supreme Being.

Prosecutor Says Evidence Clearly Shows Ancient Blue Law Violation

(By United Press) BROCKTON, Mass., Feb. 27.—The fate of Anthony Binba and Massachusetts' 229-year old blasphemy law is in the hands of Judge C. Carroll King.

Final arguments were completed at 12:30 p. m. today, and Judge King took the case under advisement. He announced he would make known his decision Tuesday.

Binba came to New England "to create propaganda for the destruction of our government," City Prosecutor I. Manuel Rubin said today in the state's closing argument in the blasphemy trial of the Brooklyn editor.

Violation Declared Clear Rubin declared the evidence plainly showed that Binba had violated the 229-year old "blue law" of Massachusetts in every respect, except that regarding willful or malicious purpose. It was apparent, he said, that Binba had no good purpose in coming here.

Binba had a perfect right to deny God, Attorney Harry Hoffman declared today in his closing argument in the trial of the Brooklyn editor.

"I don't care what you do with the blasphemy case," Hoffman told Judge King. "This man has committed no crime."

Hoffman attacked the prosecution for what he described as an attempt to inject color into the case with the use of the Lithuanian words for "soul" and "sole."

Evidence Not in Dispute "In my opening address," said Hoffman, "I made it clear that the evidence in the blasphemy case is not very much in dispute. Binba did deny the existence of God. The government has attempted, however, to insert such other government evidence in this case in order to make the charge more colorful."

"The government has tried to push me close to the line of profanity. It is blasphemy for a man to say Christ was only a man and not a God? Do all men believe in Christ? We know they do not. Is it blasphemy to deny the divinity of Christ? I am sure it isn't."

HEIR'S DEATH MEANS SALE OF K. C. STAR

Daughter of Late Colonel Nelson Succumbs to Apoplexy in Baltimore, Md. MUST SELL IN 2 YEARS

Money from Newspaper to Be Used Under Will for Public Purposes Forever

(By United Press) BALTIMORE, Md., Feb. 27.—Mrs. Laura Nelson Kirkwood, daughter of the late William R. Nelson, owner of the Kansas City Star, which was bequeathed to his daughter at the time of his death, died suddenly last night at the Belvedere hotel. Death was caused by apoplexy.

Under the terms of Nelson's will, his estate now will be administered by a board of trustees appointed by the presidents of Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri universities.

Mrs. Kirkwood became sole heir at the death of Mrs. Nelson in October, 1921.

The estate, according to the will, shall be "managed for public purposes forever."

Funds derived from the estate are to be used in the purchase of works of art, "which will contribute to the enjoyment of the public generally and to remain for all time in Kansas City, Mo."

The will provided that Nelson's newspaper property should be sold "not later than two years from the death of the surviving trustee (Mrs. Kirkwood)."

Money derived from this sale is to be invested in real estate or interest-bearing notes on property in Kansas City, or within a 100-mile radius, or in government, state or school bonds.

MAHARAJAH OF INDORE IS FORCED TO YIELD THRONE

Indian Native Ruler Abdicates Under Pressure Brought by British

(By United Press) BOMBAY, India, Feb. 27.—The Maharajah of Indore, one of the richest and most powerful Indian rulers, has abdicated in favor of Prince Bala Sahab, the heir apparent. Passing of the maharajah followed pressure by the British government to force him out, as a result of the Muntaz Begum, dancing girl, scandal.

The present cabinet will conduct the administration of Indore, with the advice of the governor general's central India agent.

The maharajah, it is assumed, will devote his next five years to travel or to residence in England.

With the abdication of the powerful maharajah, there ends one phase of the remarkable case in which retainers of the ruler killed Abdul Quader Bawla, wealthy merchant. Bawla had protected a nautch dancing girl, Muntaz Begum, after she had fled from the maharajah, with whom she had been a favorite.

On January 12, last year, Bawla was motoring on Malabar hill, Bombay, when armed natives waylaid and killed him and then married the beauty of the nautch dancer. Nine days later, Bombay police rounded up the assassins, three of whom were sentenced to death and others to life imprisonment.

Subsequently, Great Britain brought pressure upon the maharajah to abdicate.

Defeat of Walsh Report Means End of Effort to Bring About Prosecution

DEMOCRATS LOSE OUT

Opposition Forces Don't Possess Vote and Therefore Can Go No Further

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—There will be no further attempt to proceed against the Aluminum Company of America, in which Secretary of the Treasury Mellon has an interest, Senator Thomas J. Walsh, Democrat, Montana, who started the movement, announced today.

Defeat of his report in the senate yesterday closes the matter completely as far as he is concerned, Walsh said.

"I believe the evidence showed to any unbiased mind that the company had violated the law," Walsh said. "I do not believe the senate decided the case on its merits, but the senate decided it and the responsibility must rest upon those who shouldered it."

(By United Press) WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 27.—The movement to force prosecution of the Aluminum Company of America, in which Secretary of the Treasury Mellon owns a large interest, collapsed with defeat of the Walsh report in the senate yesterday.

Democratic leaders indicated today that no further effort would be made to press the issue, which had been considered the most important partisan question of the present congress.

Senator Robinson, Democratic floor leader, announced he would drop his resolution which would require President Coolidge to employ special counsel to begin proceedings against the company.

Opposition is Helpless "There is no use pressing a resolution when we haven't the vote," Robinson explained. "The Republican side has taken the responsibility. I don't see anything further to do at the present time."

The defeat marked the first setback for the combination which pushed the oil scandal and Daugherty investigations during the last congress. The vote came up on the report written by Senator Walsh, Montana, Democrat, who conducted the Teapot Dome inquiry, criticizing the department of justice for failure to prosecute the company.

Independents Desert G. O. P. The report was rejected 33 to 36. Seven Republican independents from the west voted with the Democrats and two Democrats deserted their party to vote with the Republicans against the report. The seven independents are Senators Borah, Idaho; Brookhart, Iowa; Cushman, Michigan; Frazier, North Dakota; Howell, Nebraska; La Follette, Wisconsin; and Nye, Nevada. The two Democrats who voted with the administration group were Senators Bruce, Maryland and Blease, South Carolina.

YOUNG MODEL ABOUT TO SUE EARL CARROLL

(By United Press) NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—Earl Carroll may have escaped possibility of criminal prosecution for his famous "wine bath party," it was said today, following the theatrical production's appearance before the federal grand jury.

Prohibition officials pointed out that section 30 of the Volstead act prohibits the punishment of anyone who testifies before a grand jury.

It is believed then that, unless Carroll withheld the name of the bootlegger who supplied the alleged liquor in evidence at the party, he will be safe from federal action.

City authorities thus far have manifested no sign of further investigation into the festivities of last Tuesday morning, which attracted the attention of all Broadway.

Carroll may have a civil suit on his hands, however. Counsel for Miss Joyce Hawley, the young model, who, it is said, bathed in a tub of champagne, threatens a suit for damages to reputation and breach of contract.

END BUNION PAIN FOREVER

No Need to Suffer Another Day Those Agonizing Torturing Pains

There is one simple, yet inexpensive way to reduce inflamed, swollen toe joints and get them down to normal, and that is to apply Moore's Emerald Oil night and morning and people who suffer from such enlargements would be wise to reduce them before they reach a more or less chronic stage.

Ask all druggists or any first class beautician for an ounce of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces lasts a long time, and further more if this wonderful discovery does not give you complete satisfaction you can have your money refunded.

Special note: People who want to reduce swollen or varicose veins should get a bottle of Emerald Oil at once. Applied night and morning as directed they will quickly notice an improvement which will continue until the veins and bunches are reduced to normal.—Adv.

BUSINESS GOES ON REGARDLESS OF FORD BLAZE

In spite of the fire, which, early yesterday morning, all but razed the building occupied by the George Dunton Ford agency, 416-420 East Fourth street, optimism reigned today at the improvised offices of the company, which have been opened at 412 East Fourth street.

Using salvaged desks, the office force today was carrying on business as usual, while Dunton and the owners of the building, Knox and Stout, real estate dealers, were busy throughout the day aiding fire adjusters for insurance companies with their work.

All of the 30 men employed at the plant were hard at work today, identifying thousands of damaged Ford parts, assorting them and listing them. In the meantime, the service department was carrying on work as usual.

A complete new stock of Ford parts was expected to arrive here today from the Ford factory in Los Angeles and, by tomorrow, Ford owners will be able to secure parts the same as before the fire, according to a statement made today by Dunton.

According to a statement made by John Knox, half owner of the damaged building, the loss to the building alone will run as high as $35,000 instead of $30,000, as was at first reported. Knox was at the scene of the fire today, making plans for rebuilding the structure immediately. An announcement was not available today as to when the building will be finished and reoccupied by the Dunton agency, but, according to Dunton, he will move back into the building as soon as possible.

In order to handle the business in the service department, a large vacant lot west of the Dunton building, operated by Dunton as a used car and storage lot for tractors, has been turned into a service department and mechanics and service men are working there today.

More Ford cars, to replace the 62 which burned in yesterday's fire, are expected to arrive here within the next 48 hours, it was said.

No change was made today by Dunton as to his loss in the fire. The loss, as first reported, $50,000, will cover the burning of the cars and the parts, it was said.

Police News

A motorometer was stolen from an automobile belonging to P. C. Cornwell, 1023 Custer street, shortly after 6 o'clock last night. The car was parked in front of his home.

Ramsey, parking in restricted district, $2; Louis Brand, parking between 2 and 5 a. m., $2; A. J. Hallum, parking near police station, $2; V. T. Hawke, parking overtime, $2; W. F. Gully, parking overtime, $2; Mary T. Reed, parking overtime, $2. All were Santa Ana residents.

INTERIOR OF DUNTON FORD BUILDING, WHERE FIRE CAUSED LOSS ESTIMATED AT $85,000

SHORTAGE OF MAN POWER IN LOCAL FIRE DEPARTMENT IS CITY'S GREATEST MENACE

By MAC O. ROBBINS (At the Register's Request)

Looking to the future, and visioning the inevitable growth of Santa Ana, with its equally inevitable big fires, the necessity of an amplified water supply with reserve and gravity pressure system, is apparent.

But Santa Ana's present danger in case of fires of major proportions and potentialities is not immediately and primarily in a shortage of water, or in lack of fire fighting apparatus, but in insufficient man power. Generally speaking, there is at present more water available than can be used by the firemen, and more fire fighting equipment than the number of men in the department can properly handle.

The entire force of paid men in the Santa Ana fire department consists of 22 men and the chief. This number is divided into two shifts of 11 men each, one shift being on day duty and the other on through the night. Out of the 11 men on each shift, two are at Station No. 2 on East First Street near the Santa Fe tracks, and two are at Station No. 3 on West Third street, near Bristol. This leaves seven paid men on duty at the Central station on Sycamore street, one of whom must remain in the station after an alarm to handle any additional calls. For fires in the Central station territory—and that includes all the downtown business district—there are just six paid firemen on duty to go out on the apparatus from that station.

The big Seagrave pumper, capable of handling around 1,000 gallons of water per minute, and carrying 1500 feet of hose goes out of the house with only four men, and the squad wagon, carrying 500 feet of hose, chemical tanks, st. paulins, gas masks, extra nozzles and fittings of all kinds goes out with only two men. Just six firemen respond to a business district call.

At the Ford fire yesterday, and the Horton fire last month, a second alarm brought the pumper from Station No. 2, with its two men, so the actual fire fighting force on duty at each of these fires consisted of the chief, eight regular firemen, such off-shift firemen who heard of the fire and reported for duty, a few call firemen, and numerous citizens who took hold and helped. These call men and citizens did fine work in assisting the regulars, but any person even slightly informed on fire fighting realizes that trained and paid men, on duty and ready to go when the alarm comes in, are essential to successful fire department work.

At the Ford fire yesterday, six lines of hose were laid. Only eight regular firemen were on duty to handle these six lines. Two of these had to operate the pumping engines, so the actual force of men on duty with the hose comprised only six men. Without the aid of citizens, yesterday's fire could not have been controlled, nor could the Horton fire last month. One man can't handle a fire hose with any pump pressure behind it, even if standing on the ground. To try to do it on a roof or on a ladder is dangerous in the extreme. Two men can hardly hold a hose under good pressure, and there should be at least three to direct a stream properly. Fire fighting in Santa Ana isn't a question of enough water and equipment. It's simply a question of enough regular firemen to handle the streams, move the hose around, put up ladders, etc. We haven't enough men.

The Board of Fire Underwriters, in a recent report to Fire Commissioner E. B. Collier, printed in full in the Register a few weeks ago, stated that it was essential to provide at least five men for the pumper and four men for the squad wagon at the Central station, five men for the pumper at Station No. 2, and four men for the hose company at Station No. 3. This number was regarded as the minimum for safety, and is from one to three men short of standard for each rig. This would make a minimum requirement of 18 men on each shift, and we have but 11 men on a shift—about 60 per cent of the smallest number considered safe by expert fire engineers.

Santa Ana does not realize the hazard they are facing under the present conditions. With the number of men now on the department payroll, only one man can remain on duty at the Central station after the first alarm, and he must stay there. If additional apparatus is needed from that house, a fireman must be sent back from the scene of the fire to get it. This is exactly what happened yesterday, and also at the Horton fire, when a fireman had to be taken off a hose line and sent back to the station for the ladder truck.

If a second fire had started yesterday morning, from the embers which were blowing across town for blocks, not a wheel could have turned from the Central station and there were only two firemen who could have responded with the hose truck from Station No. 3 out at Third near Bristol.

These conditions are not the fault of the fire department or the manner in which it is managed. Our department is recognized by insurance men as having a fine spirit of service, and as doing exceptionally good work. Neither are the conditions the fault of the city trustees who are doing the best they can with the taxes and other revenue available for city expenses. The department and the city trustees cannot remedy the situation without funds, and its voters of Santa Ana who must produce those funds.

Water is essential for fire fighting, and so is fire apparatus, but fire underwriters have little criticism for our conditions along those lines. Neither water nor apparatus are worth much without experienced, trained, and paid firemen on duty to use the apparatus to put the water where it is needed.

Santa Ana has had two demonstrations of what it takes to fight real fires, and can see where we're short. We can't always play in luck as we have for years. Every year several cities like ours are scenes of serious conflagrations because a fire "gets away." If we do not profit by what fire engineers have known for years, and what our citizens have recently had a chance to learn, we may soon be numbered among those conflagration cities.

ANNOUNCE NAMES FOR GRAND JURY

Material for the Orange county grand jury of 1926 was selected and announced late yesterday by Superior Judge E. J. Marks, who filed a list of 23 names, from which 12 will be empaneled for duty on the grand jury next fall.

The list follows: Samuel N. Fuller, R. T. Davies and L. M. Gardner, of Fullerton; Mrs. Martha C. Goodale, John Benke, R. D. 4, and E. R. Douglas, R. D. 5, of Anaheim; Charles L. Hansen, Pleasant; Henry E. Warren, Buena Park; Frank Proud, La Habra; W. A. Culp, Brea; C. A. Palmer, Olive; W. H. Flippin, El Modena; Mrs. Lola B. Pierson and Mrs. Evelyn H. Keller, of Orange; H. Enderle and O. E. Newman, of Tustin; B. R. Brown, Huntington Beach; Mrs. Milla Crozier, Newport Beach; E. E. Johnson, Laguna Beach; Guy Williams, San Juan Capistrano; Mrs. Theo M. Sammis, Mt. Phillips; Mrs. Clara Bullock, Mrs. Nora E. Fairbanks, P. C. Edmunds, J. H. Edwards, A. W. Griffith, Louis Was, W. W. Armstrong and P. G. Beisel, of Santa Ana.

SAYS REGISTER IS BIG FACTOR COMMERCIAL

"Before we came to Santa Ana to live," said George Raymer, the new secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, "we found it necessary, in order to get the news, to subscribe for a local paper and a Los Angeles paper. Now we find we have no use for a Los Angeles paper, as we get all the news, twelve hours earlier, in the Register."

"We were taking a Los Angeles morning paper when we came to Santa Ana and continued, for a while, to take it. One morning Mrs. Raymer said to me: 'Do you know, George, there isn't a bit of real news in this paper that I didn't read in yesterday's Register?'"

"And it was a fact—and it was so every day. So we dispensed with our Los Angeles paper."

"That," concluded Mr. Raymer, "is a big factor in the commercial development of Santa Ana, and in the maintenance of a healthy public spirit and civic pride among her people."

In most towns the size of Santa Ana, located near a large city, the local papers do not meet the requirements of the people by giving them a complete news service. The result is they read the city papers including the big department store advertisements and amusement publicity, and get the city-going and city-buying habit, and, worst of all, the city point of view, and the city complex generally, and their home town suffers from their lack of interest and lack of support, both moral and material."

"KERNELS" BY THE COLONEL

A strange thing happened in Santa Ana the other day. Believe it or not, but a man got a napkin when he sat down at a drug store lunch counter.

Sudden death from astonishment was averted, however, when the waitress begged his pardon and told him it was a mistake.

DOES THIS FIT YOU?

I was in Los Angeles the other day near a place where a child was run down by an automobile. The ambulance and a police car drove up and officers jumped out. The man who struck the child was questioned by an officer and the officer was as courteous as if he had been a salesman trying to sell banana oil to a snake. When he got through the officer thanked the man most courteously and told him not to worry that it was bad, but that it might have been worse. And so I got to thinking and concluded that if all officers were as courteous in their investigations they would get further in their work.—A. B. B.

ANNOUNCE NAMES FOR GRAND JURY

Material for the Orange county grand jury of 1926 was selected and announced late yesterday by Superior Judge E. J. Marks, who filed a list of 23 names, from which 12 will be empaneled for duty on the grand jury next fall.

FORD CARAVAN DISPLAY SEEN BY BIG CROWD

More than 1000 Santa Ana persons visited the Ford educational road show at the demonstration grounds, on South Main street, yesterday afternoon and last night, it was estimated today by R. R. McDonald, sales manager for George Dunton, Santa Ana representative of the Ford company.

Arrival of the caravan yesterday noon was signalled by a parade and the number of pieces of motorized equipment included in the exhibit attracted wide attention. J. H. Wray, of the Ford Motor company, who has general supervision of the exhibit, today declared his satisfaction with the interest shown by the hundreds who inspected the equipment yesterday and today. There were many visitors to the display in Anaheim and Fullerton Wednesday and Thursday. Wray pointed out, however, that experiences on the tour made by the caravan as far north as Bakersfield had been that more persons inspected the equipment at points more or less removed from centers where the various pieces of machinery were available at all times for inspection.

The show is costing the manufacturing firms co-operating more than $1000 a day, the supervisor said, in emphasizing the statement that the grouping has been made strictly for the purpose of educating the public to the modern type of motorized farm equipment and transportation.

The display grounds here last night were visited by more than 500 persons and the big display was shown up to advantage by a 45,000-candlepower searchlight. Its beam of light can be seen for 50 miles, it was declared.

The exhibit will be open until about 6 p. m., today, but will not be open tonight.

NEW PAVED HIGHWAY OFFICIALLY OPENED

The latest addition to hundreds of newly paved highways in Orange county, that stretch leading from the extension of Center street, Anaheim, at Whitaker corner, south through Stanton to Huntington Beach, joining the Garden Grove-Huntington Beach road at Lincoln acres, was made the subject of celebration today by residents of towns along the route.

Two delegations in automobiles left Huntington Beach this morning, both of them headed for Buena Park. One caravan went by way of Santa Ana and Anaheim, the other by way of Cypress and Downey. At Buena Park, the Huntington Beach highway boosters were joined by a third delegation.

The combined caravan proceeded to Whitaker corner, where ribbons had been stretched across the entrance to the highway. The ends of these ribbons were held by L. J. Robeson, Buena Park, J. F. Robinson, Stanton, and T. B. Talbert, Huntington Beach. At a signal from Talbert, the Misses Lola Todd and Ena Gregory, Universal Film company actresses, were scheduled to cut the ribbons and officially open the new road.

At Huntington Beach, this afternoon, the highway boosters were to enjoy sports on the beach. The highway celebration was to be brought to a close at the beach city tonight, with a grand ball in the municipal auditorium.

DIVORCE MILL GRINDS OUT 3 MORE DECREES

Three divorce decrees and one annulment were granted in superior court yesterday afternoon at the divorce mill's customary session.

Mrs. Anna B. Dudley, represented by Attorney Clara R. Cushman, of Santa Ana, was awarded a decree, annulling her marriage to Earl Dudley. It was shown that Dudley already had a legal wife when he married the plaintiff. Judge E. J. Marks heard the case.

Mrs. Constance Callahan, Santa Ana, won a divorce from Walter A. Callahan in Judge R. Y. Williams' court, on grounds of desertion. Attorney C. B. Diehl, Santa Ana, represented her.

Judge Williams also granted a divorce to George E. Coombes, who charged Marion F. Coombes with desertion. Attorney S. M. Davis was counsel for Coombes.

The postponed case of W. P. Smith, who charged his wife, Estina Smith, with desertion, was again heard and completed yesterday in Judge Marks' court, Smith obtaining his decree.

"The Guy" "With The" "Green Gloves"

He seems to be the mystery of the 20th century.

He's the bird who knows what makes the ocean roar; why roosters crow; why the sky is blue; why the wind blows; where to find oil; how to get rich, and where to invest your money; make big money; what's good and what isn't quite so good.

All these mysteries are easily solved by him, yet the funny part of it is that if you took this "WISE BIRD" and put everything in the world that he owns and put it in his pockets and then turned him upside down—a thin dime would fall out.

He's the bird who'll holler don't do this or that—while such men as ARTHUR BRISBANE, who are the "SALT OF THE EARTH," will tell you to BUY CALIFORNIA LAND—who are you going to listen to?

Buy California Land!

Buy it now. BUY IT WHILE IT'S CHEAP. Buy it while you can get it so easily—HOMEWOOD LITTLE FARMS at Buena Park, in one-fourth, one-third and one-half acres can be bought for $50.00 cash and $10.00 a month—right on a PAVED BOULEVARD—at the door of Orange County—SCHOOLS, ELECTRICITY, WATER, BUSINESS, BANKS, NEIGHBORS—all modern and you can EASILY EARN A NICE LIVING IN RABBITS and CHICKENS while your LITTLE HOMEWOOD FARM is increasing in value all the time.

THE UNION OIL COMPANY is drilling right now on land adjoining ours—they are down to 3000 feet—if they bring in an oil well YOUR HOMEWOOD LITTLE FARM will more than likely make you rich, because we are in the same plot—and we have been approached to lease all this ground as a community lease to oil people—and if you own a HOMEWOOD LITTLE FARM, you own all mineral rights with it.

Use your common sense judgment—tell the "Guy With the Green Gloves" to crawl in a hole and pull the hole in after him. Be the owner of one of these farms—learn the feeling of independence.

We have six courteous salespeople to show you around—two offices at your disposal—and plenty of time. Drive over to Buena Park—see for yourself—

Death Notices

A WORD OF COMFORT
It is so easy to slip into a groove where one can live largely by instinct or habit without much thought. Any individual so placed rapidly loses all initiative and spontaneity and soon degenerates into a pale reflection of those who happen to be near.
Personality is dead.
You must think. You must be-stir yourself to arrive at a point of view. No matter what you suffer you must not allow it to paralyze your endeavor to define your attitude toward the great realities of time and eternity and to struggle toward the fulfillment of your ideals.

FEISTEL—Catherine Feistel, aged 89 years, passed away at the home of her niece, Mrs. Clara Frange, 1307
Valencia street, Saturday, Feb. 27.
Services will be held from the Winnipeg Mission, funeral home, Monday, March 1st, at 2 p. m. with the Rev. Edw. J. Nickel, of the First Evangelical church, officiating. Mrs.
Feistel was the aunt of Mr. F. W.
Wiesseman, Mrs. Clara Frange and Mrs. Peter Opp of this city and Mrs.
Thomas Henry of Ontario, Calif.
Interment will be made in the family plot in Rosedale cemetery, Los Angeles.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to thank our many friends for their kindness and sympathy shown us during our recent bereave-

'SUPPER AT TEN' IS FILLED WITH HUMOR

With catchy music and pretty girls, the colorful musical comedy,
"Supper at Ten," was successfully presented last night in the Santa Ana high school auditorium under the auspices of the Santa Ana chapter, Order of DeMolay.
From the opening scene to the nual line, one continual laugh was evoked from the audience. The complicated situations involved in the plot were embarrassing to the principals but humorous to those who viewed it.
All the actors arranged to dine for a "supper at ten" in the apartment of Reginald Carter, who is expected to be out for the evening.
However, Carter also has arranged to dine at home.
The parts were well delineated by the cast. The butler, with his cough, Carter, with his "sheikishness," and the other "bachelors," with their suaveness, fitted into the characters they portrayed.
Miss Margarita Otero, beautiful dancer, gave her famous "Bird of Paradise" act. The chorus of six girls and little Betty Youngkin, who did a specialty dance, added to the color of the performance.

Two Jailed for Quiz on Killing

EL CENTRO, Calif., Feb. 27.— Howard Johnson and Lucien Duncan were held in the county jail here, pending investigation of the death of Charlie Abel, 37.
Abel was beaten to death during a drunken brawl at Calipatria. Authorities said he had been slugged with a flat-iron.

Another white man and two negroes were sought in connection with the murder.
Johnson and Duncan denied they killed Abel, although they admitted they were present during the brawl, police said.

MITCHELL NOT REPUGNANT TO SCHOOL CHANGE

R. P. Mitchell, county superintendent of schools, commenting upon a recent article in a Long Beach paper to the effect that more than 150 pupils in the grades, living in Seal Beach, now are obliged to attend school in Huntington Beach, today declared that such statement, attributed to E. W. Reed, of Seal Beach, according to the Long Beach paper, is at variance with the facts in the case.

"There are ample school facilities in Seal Beach for taking care of all children in the grades and none is required to go outside the community for schooling," the superintendent observed.

"As regards high school students, now attending the Huntington Beach high school, the county school authorities are more than willing to co-operate with the people of Seal Beach in order to secure the best possible arrangements for the pupils," he continued. "If some arrangements can be made whereby Seal Beach high school students will be allowed to attend the Long Beach high school, if such an arrangement is preferred to the present arrangement, there will be no objection from the county superintendent's office.

ANAHEIM MAN GETS $15,000 FOR INJURIES

John A. Thompson, of Anaheim, gained a court victory over Mr.
and Mrs. Ned H. Clark and their son, Glenn, of Fullerton, when a jury in Superior Judge Z. B.
West's court late yesterday awarded him $15,000 damages for injuries received in an automobile accident. The crash occurred last August at the intersection of Hester road and West Chapman avenue, west of the county hospital.

Thompson, who suffered a basal fracture of the skull, and loss of memory and the power of thought, it is claimed, sued the Clarks for $35,000 damages, holding that the parents were responsible for the actions of young Glenn Clark, 17, who was at the wheel of the car that collided with Thompson's machine.

At the trial, both sides tried to saddle responsibility for the wreck on the other, but the jury placed it upon young Clark. The damage verdict was reached after an hour of deliberation, the jury voting 11 to 1. Agreement by 3 of the jurors was required.

Attorney William L. Waters, of Fullerton, and Clyde Bishop, of Santa Ana, represented Thompson.
McClure, Griffin and Yorkum, of Los Angeles, appeared for the Clarks. Whether an appeal will be taken from the verdict has not been announced.

Charged with grand larceny, in connection with the alleged theft of an automobile in Anaheim, Thursday, Ralph Thompson, 21, of that city, was brought to the county jail last night, following his arrest by Anaheim officers, who are said to have been working on the case for two days. The man is charged with grand larceny.

ARROWHEAD VILLAS RESORT LANDS OPEN

A recreational resort development that can hardly fail of being of especial interest to the people of Santa Ana and Orange county is that of Arrowhead Villas at Lake Arrowhead, announced in the display columns of today's Register.

The noteworthy feature of this project is its extreme closeness to the enticing body of water, the surrounding scenic splendor, the vast improvement program under way, and yet, the prices for the lodge sites are said to be far below those prevailing in the same section.

For years, this ideally located plot of 160 acres was not procurable for subdivision and development, but last fall the Atkins Realty company, of Los Angeles, which has to its credit some of the most substantial recreational resort developments in the country, came into possession of the Arrowhead

Villas acreage with the intention of a "quick turn over."

The Atkins company, in its announcement elsewhere, are publishing a coupon for those who would like to know more about this attractive development and it need but be mailed to the address given to bring interesting information.

Diversified Program Is Enjoyed When Club Meets

LIVELY GAMES and contests in rapid succession, offered members of the Innomad club a hilarious afternoon yesterday when they met as guests of Mrs. M. C. Williams at her Orange avenue home. Red carnations were the predominating flower in Mrs. Williams' decorative scheme to which a variety of other blossoms sent by her friends, contributed.

Upon their arrival, guests were presented with wee hatchets as favors and on each hatchet handle were instructions for each to add a stunt to the entertainment. The stories, dance numbers and songs thus called forth were most entertaining, and none more so than a reading, "People Will Talk" by Mrs. W. S. Chandler.

A "cap" contest was an amusing event won by Mrs. J. C. Clark and was followed by "progressive gossip," a highly diverting feature. As the afternoon drew to a close Mrs. Williams, assisted by two young matrons, her daughter, Mrs. Harvey Riggie and Mrs. L. C. Buntin, daughter of Mrs. C. T. Wells, served refreshments in which valentine and Washington birthday motifs were cleverly combined. Favors were the heart shaped nut-cups and the piece-de-resistance was luscious cherry pie topped with ice cream.

Innomad members enjoying the hospitality of Mrs. Williams included Mesdames J. D. Annis, J. C. Clark, W. S. Chandler, Ella Webster, W. L. Moore, Harvey Riggie, Jo Ryan, Jesse Elliott, George Klever, C. T. Wells and J. H. Tompkins while guests were Miss Kate Wendelken, Mrs. Richardson, a houseguest of Mrs. Tompkins, Mrs. L. C. Buntin and Mrs. Wilfred Rountree together with a group of mischievous and lovable boy babies, small Larry Louis Buntin, Jo Ryan Jr. and Harvey and Ed Riggie.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN will have the pleasure of hearing Robert Bradford, favorite young soloist of the city, in a well-selected program. Monday at the noon luncheon of the club at St. Ann's Inn. Young Mr. Bradford is singing as a courtesy to Miss Lula B. Finley, registrar at the high school and a member of the March program committee together with Mrs. Cecyl Drake, Miss Vanche Plumb and Mrs. Eleanor Elliott.

MODERN POETRY section members of Ebells will meet at the E. M. Nealley home in Tustin Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock to enjoy a program on Stephen Phillips presented by Mrs. Edith Thatcher and Mrs. L. M. Smith. Miss Jennie Leashy will be co-hostesses with Mrs. Nealley.

DISTRICT 16, CALIFORNIA STATE NURSES' association members have been invited to meet with the Orange County Medical association next Tuesday night at 7:45 o'clock at the Orange county hospital.

PARENT-TEACHER ASSOCIATION of Edison school will meet in that schoolhouse Thursday afternoon, March 4, at 2 o'clock.

New Home Is Setting For Double Event On Birthday

THAT proved to be a double celebration of the birthday of Ray Snyder, was staged last night at the pretty new home of Mr. and Mrs. Snyder at 613 North Olive street where the hostess had planned a pleasant little dinner which was followed by the arrival of another group of friends for an evening party.

The Snyders have just taken possession of the very attractive new home, so the occasion was really a house-warming event as well as a celebration of the host's birthday, and all planned as a surprise to him. Dinner was served at 6:30 o'clock and Mrs. Snyder had arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Davis and Miss Ruby Davis and Mrs. Edward Thompson and her son Melvin of Long Beach, Mr. Lewis of Los Angeles, the host's father, Mr. Snyder sr., of Fremont, Nebraska, and a young nephew, Eldon Murray, to have dinner with the occasion. The table was attractively centered with yellow posies in harmony with a chosen color scheme.

The unexpected arrival later in the evening of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Faccou and their sons, Armand and Harlan, Dr. and Mrs. D. G. Golding, A. Bowman, Mrs. Frank Koss and Mrs. Jennie Durkee, completed the group of merry-makers. Cards were introduced and with music and cheerful chat, offered a delightful evening, varied with an inspection of the new home.

At a late hour Mrs. Snyder served pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee.

Fourteenth Birthday Happily Celebrated

The fourteenth birthday of Miss Virginia Eggleston was made a happy occasion recently when her mother, Mrs. E. C. Eggleston, asked a group of Virginia's friends in to spend a merry afternoon with her at her home, 1029 South Cypress avenue.

Many entertaining games were introduced and the young hostess proved an expert in planning for the enjoyment of her guests. The merriment was climaxed by the refreshment hour when all were seated at a table decked in pink, white and yellow flowers and appointments. A beautiful birthday cake had fourteen candles all in pink like the sweet peas which surrounded the cake. Places were found by means of original sketches at which Virginia is quite proficient, and there were exactly as many places as the birthday maid was years old. Dainty refreshments were accompanied by iced punch. Many lovely gifts were showered on Miss Virginia by her friends.

S. A. REALTY BOARD ADOPTS NEW LAWS

With Stanley Goode and his committee completing their work of re-drafting the constitution and by-laws, the Santa Ana Realty board yesterday adopted the new laws governing operation of the board. The principal changes eliminated the multiple listing bureau and changed the name of the board from Santa Ana Board of Realtors to the Santa Ana Realty Board.

Initiation fees were established at $25 for broker members and $10 for associate members, with annual dues of $25 for brokers and $10 for associate members, salesmen and co-partnerships.

Honeymooners Return From Wedding Trip To Maricopa

RETURNING from their honeymoon trip to Maricopa, Ariz., Mr. and Mrs. Roy R. Merchant will soon be ready to welcome their friends to their home, the Canfield home at 945 West Highland street.

Mrs. Merchant was Miss Trew Canfield, popular clerk in the local postoffice, and the marriage of the happy pair was a very quiet event of Friday, February 19, at the home of the Rev. Perry F. Schrock, pastor of the Congregational church. Mr. and Mrs. Merchant left at once for Maricopa to visit the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Canfield. Mr. Canfield is superintendent of the Interstate Oil company. Mrs. Canfield returned to this city with Mr. and Mrs. Merchant and aided them in establishing themselves in the home. She was to return to Maricopa today. Mr. Merchant is a law student.

CHURCH SOCIETIES

Spurgeon Memorial.
When guests arrived yesterday at the home of Mrs. F. E. Farnsworth on North Broadway to enjoy the monthly missionary tea of the Spurgeon Memorial church society, they found the reception hall of the beautiful home adorned with varietal rannunculus which offered a spring-like greeting. Daffodils and sweet peas were used in the big double drawing-rooms, in attractive effect.

Mrs. A. A. Jones offered devotionals after which a musical program was heartily enjoyed. Miss Frances Walton played a group of MacDowell and Grieg numbers and Everard Stovall presented Chopin numbers. A musical game led by Mrs. Frank Greenleaf with Miss Hester Covington at the piano, was a lively feature and the program concluded with vocal solos by Mary Fine.

An hour of social chat was enjoyed, during which Mrs. Farnsworth and her aides served most enjoyable refreshments.

Junior Philatheta.
Miss Naomi Keller, Mrs. Nell Neighbour and Mrs. On Swanke were co-hostesses Thursday night at a merry Junior Philatheta party at the home of Miss Keller, 921 Lowell street. Calla lilies and sweet peas were used profusely in adorn the home for the party which opened with devotional services led by the class president, Mrs. Neighbour.

Progressive cote was the lively game of the evening with Mrs. Benius taking honors and Miss Irene Cravath consoled. Washington's birthday refreshments served, consisted of red, white and blue sandwiches, fruit salad topped with American flags, hatchet cookies and coffee.

Among the twenty-five merry-makers were the teacher, Mrs. John P. Williams and three guests, Mrs. Benius, Mrs. Mabel Morris and Mrs. Nora Strommerson of Laguna Beach.

Aid Society.
The northeast section of the First Presbyterian Aid society met at the home of Mrs. L. B. Lauderbach, Wednesday when the afternoon was spent with sewing and election of officers.

Little Miss Marjorie Lauderbach gave two readings, "Our Radio" and "T.L." About 25 members were present to enjoy the hospitality of Mrs. Lauderbach and her hostess committee, Mesdames Clyde Bach, W. W. Anderson and O. H. Egge. Delicious Washington pie with whipped cream was served with tea.

boards in the state, was presented to the Santa Ana board yesterday by Ray Kingsbury, of Redlands, and was accepted by Freeman H. Bloodgood in behalf of the local board. The cup later will be passed by Santa Ana to another board.

Young People Revel In Old-fashioned Box Social

N OLD fashioned "box social" recalling the time when grandparents met at the country school house for an evening's merriment, was held by the modern day students of the Santa Ana Junior college at Orange county park last night. Those who attended declared that the "old folks" knew how to have a good time.

Leaving the college after the close of the class sessions yesterday afternoon, the party went to the park and indulged in a number of games of baseball and football. About 30 students were present.

As the dinner hour drew near, the interest in the box social became engrossing. The boxes with the lunches were placed on auction by Henrik Van Rensselaer and sold to the highest bidder. Some went at amount of more than one dollar.

The social was arranged as a benefit for the Junior college athletic fund and a satisfactory amount was raised. Many surprises were occasioned by the "pairing off" of the students. The name of the co-eds who prepared the lunches were inclosed in the boxes and when opened the names were discovered.

After the supper interval the students engaged in dancing in the park pavilion. Acting as chaperons for the party were Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Bruff and Mr. and Mrs. Graham E. Harris.

Ebells Travelers

Mrs. A. M. Gardner opened her beautiful East Washington avenue home yesterday afternoon to members of Ebells' third travel section who met for a session of study and sociability. The unusual warmth of the day was mitigated by the cooling orangeade which Mrs. Gardner offered her guests as the program opened.

The study period was given over to Mrs. E. E. Keech who read a paper prepared by Mrs. B. D. Peterson of Laguna Beach, on "Arts, Crafts and Pottery of Mexico." Description of the work of those craftsmen to the south, in comparison with whom Americans are still in their infancy, was most interesting. The wonderful carvings of their churches, the beautiful handwork of the women, even the decorations applied to articles of common daily use, were dwelt upon.

The drawnwork for which the country used to be noted and which could be purchased for a song, was declared to be almost a thing of the past, since linen is unobtainable and there is no demand for the work on cotton material. However it is still being taught in the schools by the use of cotton, in an effort to keep the beautiful art alive. In her paper, Mrs. Peterson also dwelt upon easy-going nature of the Mexicans, their contentment with earthly conditions and their calm willingness to leave such matters as a future life entirely up to the church.

The excellent paper called forth much interesting comment as members related experiences in Mexico and described their visits there.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—President Coolidge today sent the nomination of Walter L. Cleveland to the senate to be postmaster of Huntington Park, Calif.

Annual Gathering of Mothers-Daughters At Y. M. C. A.

MOTHERS and daughters of Julia Lathrop school to the number of 141, shared a happy party at the Y. M. C. A. last night where the annual mothers-daughters banquet was held. After assembling for greetings in the great lobby, the diners descended to the basement where they stood around the tables to join in singing the Mothers' Doxology, and to be led in prayer by J. A. Cranston, city superintendent of schools. Lively songs varied the courses of the appetizing dinner and were led by Annabel Bowman, one of the daughters. Ruth Breckenridge, president of Every Girl's club, presided as toast mistress, proposing first the toast, "Mother O' Mine." Mrs. G. N. Greer, president of Lathrop P-T. A. responded to the toast, "What it means to have a daughter" and was followed by Burmah Adams in a piano solo, "Water Sprite."

The toast "Chums, Mother and I" given by Marjorie Adams, ended with a touching bit of verse written by Ellen Seneley. "Garden Gossips" sung by Annabel Bowman was followed by the toast, "Chums, Daughter and I" by Mrs. Frank C. McCarter and that in turn by the song, "Mother Machree" by Gertrude Prior.

J. A. Cranston, given his own subject to offer as a toast, selected Mrs. Iva M. Webber who as vice-principal and dean of girls has had a wonderful influence on the lives of countless young Santa Ana girls and women. His tribute to her worth and graciousness was a beautiful one and highly deserved, in the opinion of all her admiring friends, and came as a complete surprise to Mrs. Webber.

Pianologues, "When Mother Married Father" and "My Two Aunts," by Vivian Rogers were followed by a second surprise to the dean of girls when H. Gilbert Nelson, principal of the junior high school, introduced Mrs. Webber and her daughter, Iva Lou Webber-Kellogg, wife of the principal of Frances Willard junior high school, as an example not only of happy mother-daughter relations, but also of the relationship between the two junior high schools.

The program closed with the hymn "Faith of Our Fathers" with the beautiful word "Mother" substituted for "Fathers." Guests lingered throughout the remainder of the evening in the friendly associations inspired. Several members of the teaching staff joined with the young girls and their mothers in enjoyment of the affair. Teachers had also aided in decorating and program plans. The quantity of colorful flowers decking the tables had been provided by the daughters, and were arranged under the direction of Miss Henrietta Foster and Miss Winifred Chalmers of the teaching staff. Miss Elizabeth Bruner had aided in planning the toast program. All were agreed that the fellowship and companionship engendered by the affair, was invaluable not only in mother and daughter relations, but in school relations.

Interesting Guests From Ohio

Recent interesting visitors in the city were Mrs. George Bundy and Mrs. Frank Packard of Warren, Ohio, who were guests at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Roy Horton, 315 Cypress avenue. They are wintering in Long Beach and came over to greet again, a former Ohio friend in Mrs. Horton. Both were quite charmed with Santa Ana and Mrs. Packard, whose husband is a member of the firm of brothers producing the Packard car, expressed a hope that she might one day come to California and establish a home, in which case it would be in Santa Ana.

FACTS ABOUT VACCINATION Orange County Is Clean Let's Keep It That Way

International, national and state statistics prove beyond doubt that vaccination is a positive preventive of smallpox. Besides the sickness and deaths which occur from smallpox, the financial loss caused by this disease is appalling. Over fifteen states within the past ten years have spent in excess of $1,500,000 each in looking after smallpox victims, and this does not include taking care of their families. California's loss was in the neighborhood of $900,000 during this period.

Statistics of the United States
Public Health Service

THESE STATES HAVE NO VACCINATION LAW	NUMBER OF SMALLPOX CASES IN TEN-YEAR PERIOD—1913-1923
Ohio	51,913
Indiana	40,082
Kansas	29,831
Iowa	29,549
Wisconsin	20,109
Utah	17,852
California	19,702
Michigan	26,972
THESE STATES REQUIRE VACCINATION	NUMBER OF SMALLPOX CASES IN TEN-YEAR PERIOD—1913-1923
Massachusetts	457
New Hampshire	241
New Jersey	936
Rhode Island	20
Greater New York City	224
Porto Rico	137
Canal Zone	407

Here Are Facts You Should Know
Smallpox of a deadly type has broken out in several American cities during the last three years, and is now prevalent in Los Angeles. In Denver, during 1922, 123 persons died of smallpox. Of these 123, not one had been successfully vaccinated within recent years, and 89.4 per cent had never been vaccinated.

In Detroit in 1924, 163 persons died from smallpox. Not one of these deaths occurred in an individual who had been successfully vaccinated within recent years; 88.4 per cent had never been vaccinated.

Every serious epidemic of smallpox tells the same sad story; 85 to 90 per cent of those who die have never been vaccinated; the remaining 10 or 15 per cent were vaccinated a long time ago, usually in childhood; no deaths occur among people who have been successfully vaccinated within recent years.

Army Figures
Between April 1, 1917, and December, 1919, the U. S. Army in the World War, both in the United States and in Europe, totalled 3,703,191 officers and men. During the time under observation (April, 1917, to December, 1919), there were just 749 cases of smallpox in the entire army, and of these 5 died.

The Penalty of Refusing Vaccination
Examples without number could be cited to show the tragic effects which may occur when individuals, through IGNORANCE, PREJUDICE or SHEER OBSTINACY, refuse to be vaccinated.

The Los Angeles Situation
During the month of January, there were 205 cases of SMALLPOX in that city, with 25 deaths. To date in February, there have been 288 cases of SMALLPOX in that city, with 55 deaths. Of these deaths, none were vaccinated. The only patient so far recovering from the hemorrhagic form, was one vaccinated over fifty years ago.

The WOMAN'S DAY

by Allene Sumner

My "Two Cents' Worth"

If babies were taught at their mothers' knees how to play poker with true finesse, they would have no yen in late years to play the game where the lights are bright and companions dubious. So affirms one President Ramsey B. Ogilby of Trinity college, speaking before a mothers' club.

The speaker recalled that his mother taught him the high art of poker when he was but a toddler. When he went to college and was secretly invited to poker parties, he pooh-poohed such childish pastimes, says he.

Some wise card and poker chip company now will put out decks of pale pink and blue shades, pink for a boy, blue for a girl—or vice versa!

Current Events

Having entered the World court they are all talking what we're going to do after we're seated. "The irreconcilables" are still talking about "foreign entanglements" and how we're going to the demitition bow-wow.

President Calles of Mexico stands firm on his alien land act which confiscates millions of dollars worth of American property in Mexico.

Colonel Nobili will pilot the dirigible on the Ellsworth-Amundsen flight to the North Pole which hopes off late in March.

Judge Florence Allen of the Ohio supreme court bench, the first woman in the world to hold such a position, practically admits her candidacy for the U. S. senate. The senate can't lose if she wins!

Carrie Chapman Catt, aged woman-suffrage pioneer and a crusader for world peace, has re-entered public life after a seven years' absence. She is making a lecture tour of the country, speaking on the subject of peace.

Making Pin Money at Home

Be cautious about the many advertised knitting machines. One or two are all right, the rest are not. The trick is to demand "perfectly knitted hose," and no matter how much yarn a woman buys or how many hours a day she runs the machine, the company never deems her product "perfect." When in doubt about anything like this, consult your Better Business Commission or Chamber of Commerce.

People Talked About

Challapin, the giant in stature, and voice of the operatic world, the Russian singer who was once a Volga boatman, visits Hollywood but denies that he will enter the movies. "Too old to start a new game," he says sagely.

"Princess Alice," now Mrs. Nicholas Longworth, wife of the speaker of the house, is almost a daily spectator in congress visitor's gallery, even if there is a young infant daughter Pauline now.

Miss Ruth Rose, historian with the William Beebe expeditions, tells me of her delight in the new diving helmet which permits her to descend to the bottom of the seas when clad in a bathing suit. Instead of the old ponderous suits of mail. She's no more afraid of sharks than of kittens. "Man-eating sharks are not recognized by scientists," says Miss Ruth.

To Play at Home

Get a box of anagrams from any book supply store. Or, they could be made at home if someone is ambitious enough to cut the letters of the alphabet from papers and mount them on cardboard. Anagrams are nothing but cardboard letters. A hundred different games may be played with a box of anagrams.

Before the game begins it is decided what is to be played—fruits, vegetables, flowers, states, mountains, rivers, famous people, foods, anything.

The anagrams are placed before the dealer, face side down. The dealer turns them over, and the players must say "a fruit," or whatever is being played, beginning with the letter turned up. The one who has the largest pile when the game is over has won. Children love this game and I have heard even adults shriek "paranip!" quite boisterously. Hostesses have arranged progressive anagram tables for those who do not play bridge.

Just Folks by Edgar A. Guest

THE WAY OF A WOMAN

The way of a woman is queer As has often been stated by men. Since the dark ages were, man has marveled at her, And he'll frequently marvel again.

Take the wonderful woman you know And I'll venture this statement is true. In health or in pain, she will worry her brain Over things which are trifles to you.

She was down in a hospital bed Under orders to fret not or fume. "Keep away every shock," said the kindly old Doc. "Don't let worry get into her room."

So we talked of the happiest things, ing her things were all right. Till I ventured to say, as I sat there one day That a friend had stayed with us all night.

From her face fled the glorious smile. To her mouth came the droop of despair. "Dear me," she exclaimed. "I am truly ashamed; You'd a guest, and I couldn't be there."

"There were towels and things to put out Did you think to make over his bed. Did you put dainties new on the dresser top, too, And get out our company spread?"

"Did you have everything in its place. Did you see that my old clothes were hid?" And I stood by her bed, and unblushingly said That all she had mentioned I did.

But I rise to remark that no man With a brow that is fevered and hot Would e'er be distressed, if an over-night guest Had the towels with initials or not.

ADVENTURES of the TWINS by OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON NO. 18—THE TOLL-GATE BAT REAPPEARS

I don't know what the speed limit was in the land of the Blue Cherry.

Nancy took one of the magic balls out of her pocket and threw it on the ground. Presto! Chango! There stood a spanking new motorcycle—license and all.

Then Nick took another one out of his pocket and threw it on the ground.

Chango! Presto! There stood another spanking new motorcycle, waiting them for a ride.

"I'll run one," cried Jupe, the kangaroo, settling himself in the front seat without losing any time. "Nancy you get on behind."

"And I'll run the other," said Hickwood, the wooden man.

In about two minutes all four were sailing down the road like two streaks of lightning.

I don't know what the speed limit was in the land of the Blue Cherry. But whatever it was, I am sure they were breaking it.

"We certainly should catch old Blue Whiskers at this rate," said Jupe. "Everyone knows that a motorcycle can go faster than an automobile. He can't be further the cross-roads by this time."

On they sped like the wind.

But they were counting their chickens before they were hatched. I'm afraid, for suddenly a big voice shouted, "Halt!" And both motorcycles had to slow down and stop.

There, if you please, sat the same big blue bat that they had met on their way to the palace.

Only this time, the Twins noticed uneasily, he had his nose tied up with a large handkerchief, and one eye was swollen shut.

"And Jupe, you may be sure, was not any to comfortable, either, when he thought of the trick he had played. The bat, you know, was acting as toll-gate when the Twins met him the first time and refused to fold up his wings and let them pass by. When he demanded flies, and mosquitoes for toll, Jupe had presented him with a wasp's nest. The wasps had stung the poor bat, and he had flown away in a hurry. Now, my dears, you may understand why the travelers looked so worried when they saw the same enormous fellow parked on a big stone in the middle of the road, his wings spread out on both sides, and completely blocking it.

He had a queer look in his eye. "Oh, ho! So we meet again," said he, snapping his jaws together as though he meant business. "You can't get past this time unless you do exactly as I say."

"But we must get past," said Nancy. "Old Blue Whiskers, the wizard, stole the cherry and we have to get it before he eats it up."

"Must be a big word," said the bat. "And besides my nose is still sore as well as my temper. I'll let you pass when I am good and ready."

"Dear me," said Hickwood, getting off his bicycle and fumbling over his buttons with his wooden hands. "I'll have to look in my index and find what it says about bats. Nick, will you please press the seventh button and take out the bunch of yellow papers marked 'TV'."

"Don't trouble yourself," said the bat quickly. "I'll tell you all about bats that you need to know just now. First of all, they can see better in the daytime than most people think they can. Second, they are always hungry. And I'm hungry now. I'm going to order a very fine dinner and you are going to get it."

"But we can't stop now. I tell you," cried the Twins. "We have to—"

But the big blue bat went on as though he had not heard. "I want a bushel of Jersey mosquitoes," he demanded, "a bushel of Chinese dragon flies, and a bushel of fuzzy caterpillars with their hair cut. Either get them for me at once or stay where you are."

Fellowship of Prayer

Daily Lenten Bible reading and meditation plan for Catholics and Protestants. Council of the Churches of Christ in America.

SATURDAY

Readings of Men for Christ. Read Jn. 4:35-42. Text: 4:35. Look on the fields... that they are white already unto harvest.

Meditation—Look! Never had men such a field for doing great deeds of goodness as today. It is easy to magnify the significance of the adventuring faith of yesterday—and to minimize the opportunity of today. Look again—the great chance is not for months ahead. It is now. Now is the great day of the Lord's opportunity. We have an open door to great works of service, greater by far than confronted Jesus and the twelve. We can help others to fuller life by sharing ours. Not the amount of money we have but the proportion of ourselves we give. To this and greater day—Jesus calls us over the tumult.

Prayer—O Thou who didst redeem the time and didst discover the greatness of the common people, help us to see the harvest of fruitful opportunity hidden in the field of ordinary life. Teach us its larger meaning. Show us the real values, lest we sell our days for a have of potage when we might have won life by giving life. Amen.

Menus for the Family

By SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Canned cherries, top milk, broiled bacon, soft cooked eggs, crisp whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Fish chowder, toasted crackers, cabbage and grape fruit salad, apple tapioca pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Broiled shad, lemon butter, boiled rice, lima beans in cream, spinach salad, lemon meringue pie, graham bread, milk, coffee.

Tart canned cherries are very acceptable as a breakfast fruit. Any canned fruit, not too sweet and well chilled can be used just as stewed dried fruits are used.

If the breakfast bacon is wanted crisp and hot, the way it should be, dip the fat off as fast as it cooks out if the meat is broiled.

Fish Chowder Two pounds cod or haddock, 2 slices salt pork, 1 onion, 3 cups diced potatoes, 2 teaspoons minced parsley, 2 cups milk, 2 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper.

Remove fish from bones and cut flesh in small pieces. Cover bones with cold water and bring it to the boiling point. Simmer for 30 minutes. Strain.

Cut pork in small pieces and try out fat. Strain fat into sauce pan and add onion thinly sliced. Cook potatoes until a pale straw color.

Add potatoes and parsley, pepper and fish stock. Bring to the boiling point, adding water to cover and add fish. Cook until the fish is tender about 30 minutes. Add water to prevent sticking as needed with a chowder should not be too thin. When fish is tender add hot milk. Stir flour to a smooth paste with a little cold milk. Stir into chowder and bring to the boiling point. Bring to the boiling point. Add 4 Bon crackers and dip in cold milk. Put in soup tureen and pour over chowder. Serve at once.

BEAUTY CHATS

FINDING ONE'S TYPE

It's a wise woman that knows her own type. Many of us are so busy trying to be something else that we have no time to find out what we really are. It is a praiseworthy ambition, trying to be something else, for it shows we have an ideal and are trying to live up to it, even though, years ago, it led half the young girls to adopt long curls and Mary Pickford expressions, when they weren't in the least Mary Pickford sort of people, and even though now it leads half of us to try and be boyish, when only about five per cent really are the boyish type.

Find your real type and then stick to it, and be as good as and as true to it as you can. If you are slim and are under developed and have not small hands or small feet, go ahead and be as boyish as possible, with tweeds and low heeled shoes and tailored blouses with smart, loose cuffs to hide the bigness of the hands, and all that sort of clever disguise.

If you are very thin, be "petite," wear fluffy clothes and frills and puffed short sleeves and rather high heels. If you are tall, try to cultivate a more stately style, and wear dresses of rich plain material like velvet or drapery satins, with long, dignified lines and a very little bit of trimming. If you are very feminine, accentuate it, we're having an overdose of "boyishness" at present. Beyond this, I can't help you. You alone—or your friends—must decide what type you are. But having found it, stick to it, don't wear one sort of clothes one week and another the next. Accentuate the type and you accentuate your personality.

Mrs. George D. F.—When making the oatmeal bags for cosmetic purposes, have the bags large enough to give the meal a chance to smell after the bag is in the water. Several teaspoonfuls of the mixture will be enough for the bags to be used for the complexion; and for a full bath, there should be enough so the bag will be as convenient to use as a washcloth.

Nellie G. J.—If your hair is coarser than the average it will take a longer time for the henna to color it. Try 30 minutes as an experiment for leaving the henna shampoo on it, since 20 minutes did not appear to be enough time. I am wondering if you followed the directions carefully, or did you get Egyptian henna? However, it is easy enough to do the work well, so try it again since you like this shade so much.

YOU'RE LIKELY TO WISH YOU HADN'T SAYS CYNTHIA GREY

By CYNTHIA GREY

I sometimes wonder if the national slogan has not become "We're Not Getting Anywhere!"

Ten of us have escaped being surrounded by friends who chant in doleful strain whenever one talks with them, "We're Not Getting Anywhere."

And many a time and oft I have wondered just where this land of "anywhere" is that seems to be the land of heart's desire to most living humans.

And sometimes I wonder if our great national game of "getting somewhere" does not so destroy us that, when the ships come in, they do not seem the ships of our dreams, but are seen as only tattered-sailed derelicts of the sea of life, which we let slip by with a hand raised in greeting!

My married friend Molly made her wait the other evening about how they "weren't getting anywhere," and as Mollie moaned I saw lines in her face that weren't there even a year ago.

Road to Neurasthenia Molly is on the road to neurasthenia along with the whole jostling mob trying to "get somewhere."

Looking about Molly's ducky little Queen Anne bungalow with its open fireplace, gable windows, and yellow sun parlor, I thought it sad if her trip to "somewhere" took her far from such a charming spot.

But it seems that Molly's older married husband is "doing" as much better than Molly's own Jim! Molly's sister and her husband own a 12-room Spanish mission type of house. They drive a regular palace on wheels, while all Jim says they can afford is that funny old car they bought when they were first married!

Molly didn't put it in so many words, but I easily "did it out" to that "getting nowhere" means to that "bigger house, and daily trips to the hair dresser and masseuse."

And the tragedy of it is that when Molly gets to this particular dream vision of a desired "somewhere," her jangled nerves won't let her stop to enjoy it. She won't even know that she's "gotten somewhere."

I fell to thinking the other evening of Molly and Jim when they were first married. I remembered Molly's ecstasy over her first new house all her own. Not a wonderful house! It only cost $5000.

But to Molly, reared with a big untidy family in an old ramshackle house, this trim little cottage with its hardwood floor, its blue and white bathroom, its built in cup-boarded kitchen, seemed heaven.

I remember the Molly who lured me shopping with her while we scrambled around for just the right piece of chintz for the blue bedroom curtains, for a wobbly walnut tea cart in a second-hand shop—Jim could make it good as new!

I remember Molly's shining eyes when Jim proudly drove the second-hand car home one night. I remember their planning for those all-day Sunday jaunts. Molly humming in her sunny kitchen on Saturdays, the whole house fragrant with the perfume of new baked bread and cookies and those little fruit drops that Jim adored!

Pure Delight Molly almost runs the door to the corner grocer for a bottle of stuffed olives or some of that new sandwich filling. Sometimes they took me with them on those Sunday excursions into cool green woodland.

Bathing suits under the back seat, a hammock that Jim hung on an oak tree beside a brook which we found one time and took for our own. Ice cold lemonade in the thermos bottle, each with our book, those Sundays of pure delight!

I happened to know a rich man who lived almost next door to Molly and Jim, a rich man with power living in a big house that was the house Molly began to envy, a rich man with a huge limousine and a chauffeur, and membership in every rich man's club in town.

One Sunday as the funny little car with its picnic basket chugged out of Molly's and Jim's yard, the rich man peeking behind his window curtains had tears in his eyes as he said "Lucky, lucky kids!"

The WELL-DRESSED MAN By BEAUNASH

Correct Clothes To Meet The Obligation Of Every Occasion

PLEATS ARE IN FRONT The past picture of the modern essayist is to "point with pride" and to "view with alarm." If there is one thing to which the writer upon correct dress may well point with pride it is the really extraordinary improvement effected in shirts during the last few years. Formerly stodgy, shapeless affairs, akin to a bag, they have been enriched and refined into garments of good looks, good taste and good style. Moreover, the range of shirts has been appreciably broadened. We now have town shirts and sport shirts, each of a totally different type. We have a tremendous assortment of patterns in the most colorful of pleated-front shirts and open-back shirts for evening dress, as well as open-front.

Pleats have come to the front rapidly, particularly now that the trend of fashion is toward a shade more formality in the details of dress. The advantages of the pleated bosom are that it lies flat, does not wrinkle or "bunch up" and has more weight and heft than the plain-front garment. Moreover, it adds a certain ornamental touch to a shirt which is all the more pleasing after the long and tiresome reign of soft-collar, soft-bosom, soft-cuff shirts.

The pleated-front shirt, sketched here, is characteristic of the most advanced type. The printed or embroidered figures are placed between, instead of upon, the pleats which are left plain or pastel-colored to match the body and cuffs. This effect is astonishingly rich, yet restrainedly colorful, giving to the garment an individuality rich, yet restrainedly colorful. The cuffs are of single thickness. The collar is the familiar deep-point shape which, in spite of all efforts to dislodge, remains in widest favor.

To be sure, the pleated-bosom shirt is wholly a town style and should not be worn at sports or in the country. There are special and practical styles for this purpose. Always distinguish between shirts for formal occasion or informal. They are not all alike. It is just as much the mark of the man who knows clothes to wear the correct shirt as it is to have on the proper suit or hat. Watch these little things. They are of great significance in making you well-turned-out.

As a bird that wandereth from her nest, so is a man that wandereth from his place.—Prov. 27:8.

YOST THEATER.

If the gales of laughter that emanated from an hour and a half from the Yost theater where a packed audience was seeing "Behind the Front," comedy of the A. E. F., could have been broadcast throughout the district, the theater lobby would be mobbed permanently. The picture closes tonight.

Rarely has such a comedy as this picture, which features Wallace Beery, Raymond Hatton, and Mary Brian, been thrown on the screen in this city.

The picture starts with a chuckle and works into laughter that continues right through to the end. "Behind the Front" is remarkable in that virtually every scene of the picture contains a laugh.

Among those getting the biggest amount of fun out of "sunny" France were the numerous ex-soldiers sprinkled through the audience.

As a pair of dumb doughboys, who get into all the trouble possible in the army, Beery and Hatton win first honors.

The air raid, inspection, and especially the scenes with the tank in No Man's Land, are among the funniest ever filmed.

"Behind the Front" is really a classic of the war and of the irrepressible humor of the American doughboy.

WEST COAST-WALKER. "Tumbleweeds," which opens at the West Coast-Walker theater tomorrow, is a William S. Hart production in which great crowds of people are used, as well as enormous herds of cattle and horses, soldiers and thousands of vehicles.

Having to do with the famous dash of the homesteaders to settle on the Cherokee land strip when it was opened in 1889, this feature alone entails the use of many hundreds of men and women as well as children who arrive at Caldwell, Kans., to stake their homesteads in the strip. The actual dash itself is historically recognized as one of the greatest "rushes" in the story of the West's upbuilding.

Cattle ranch scenes necessitated the use of many big herds and all nance enters his life in the person of a delightful girl of the mid-west—played by Barbara Bedford. The West Coast theaters' presentation, a Fanchon and Marco "Pianologue Idea" also opens tomorrow. The entire "idea" is built around a grand piano and gives opportunity to show several new Charleston steps and steps. Carlos and Jinette do some splendid singing and dancing. Bell and Coates, "Those Two Boys" do a variety of Schenck which is very entertaining. George Ward, "The Boy from the Movies" certainly knows how to dance.

Ama Lou Barnes and Dorothy Mark, two winners of the West Coast Theater—Los Angeles Evening Express Quest for talent are in this presentation and certainly show that they deserve the ten weeks' contract they won.

The feature of the presentation is the Floradora Sextette which is a very beautiful number. The best of all comes at the end but it would spell it all to tell which it is other than to say that there are six grand pianos played all at the same time by as many pretty girls.

There are some gorgeous settings splendid music and clever people in the "Pianologue Idea" which is one of the best things that West Coast Theaters have sent on tour for some time.

WEST END THEATER The photoplay entitled "Shattered Lives," which comes to the West End theater today has a most unique plot dealing with one woman's secret which she thought safe, until danger threatened the one she loved most. Then, her own feelings were forgotten and she spoke.

Elizabeth Trent had raised Donald Trent in the belief that he was her own son. He grew up into a manly youth and was all that any woman could desire as a son. He was about to marry a sweet girl of his choice when the blow fell. A lawyer appeared with direct evidence that Donald was a foundling and that Elizabeth Trent's real son was the man he brought with him—a lazy, worthless denizen of the cheap pool rooms of the large city. Poor Donald's dream of life's happiness was shattered. He leaves home and then Fate takes a hand. Circumstances throw him into strange company and he is forced to become the center of some most unusual adventures which, however, results in the untangling of the mystery surrounding the life of Elizabeth Trent, the woman he had loved as his mother.

The characters in this novel drama are convincingly portrayed by Edith Roberts, Robert Gordon, Ethel Wales, Eddie Phillips and a superlative cast of popular screen favorites.

YOST THEATER

If there was such a thing as a lingual traffic order "Stop Laughing" it would be ignored at a presentation of "The Girl in the Limousine," the big New York sensation that is to be presented at the Yost theater Sunday and Monday by Connell's Comedians.

The laughter that this big play calls forth is the sort that no rules in the world could possibly stop. What would you do if you had been knocked senseless by a couple of thugs, robbed of your money, stripped of your clothing and left under a bed in a room of the very house where you were to have spent the week-end as a guest? That would be bad enough, but suppose in addition to that there was a lady with the grime in that bed and her aunt arrived on the scene and insisted "hat you were the lady's husband? What would you do then?

This is the ground work of the side-splitting farce "The Girl in the Limousine." When Wilson Collison and Avery Hopwood wrote it, they became authors of one of the cleverest and funniest laugh mediums that the American stage has seen in years.

Every effort is being made made by Manager Yost and Director Connell to make the presentation as nearly identical with the Broadway production as is possible.

One of the year's biggest casts is featured in "My Lady's Lips," the Yost theater's screen offering tomorrow and Monday.

Clara Bow returns to the B. P. Schulberg fold in this picture after filling two important engagements with Warner brothers, to whom she was loaned. With Warners she played featured roles in "Eve's Lover" and "Kiss Me Again." This little actress is regarded in the picture business as one of the outstanding players in the industry. Alyce Mills, who made her initial how as a featured player in "Faint Perfume," again has the leading feminine role in "My Lady's Lips," a role which stamps her as a real actress. She is considered by the producer to be one of the most promising of the younger generation of screen players.

WEST COAST-WALKER

Viola Dana, petite beauty, and Robert Agnew, handsome juvenile of the screen, make one of the greatest teams in filmdom—and it took a hilarious comedy with romantic trimmings and a six-ton elephant to prove it.

For evidence, see "The Great Love," production which closes at the West Coast-Walker theater tonight. Bobby and Viola are hero and heroine in a drama in which a villain and six tons of sincere love furnish complications galore; laughter that leaves an audience breathless—and thrills that make them gasp. Marshall Neilan has directed one of the cleverest things he has ever given the screen.

On the stage are five good acts. Miller, Gordon and Welch present "A Revelation of Song." Their repertoire ranges from operatic to popular numbers. The truly artistic manner of presentation coupled with their individual ability is worthy of special mention. Others on the bill are Furry and Mauley, "Those Funny Fellows"; The Two Jansleys in "A Sensational Perch Act"; the Voltaires in "Thrill for Thrill"; and Frank Juban in a "Singing, Dancing, Musical Novelty."

HARVARD MAN IS STRIKE LEADER

PASSAIC, N. J., Feb. 27.—A 25-year-old Harvard law school graduate is leading the strike of 12,000 textile workers, which has tied up approximately one-fifth of the country's woolen and worsted clothing supply. The narrow shoulders of Albert Weisbord bear the brunt of the work connected with the walkout, the nation's largest industrial controversy.

It is he who has defied the police in their attempt to break up picketing until Passaic, Clifton and Garfield are hotbeds of bitterness. Weisbord is a thin, nervous, untiring enthusiast. He wears a cheap suit and a brown flannel shirt entirely out of keeping with his early environment as the son of wealthy parents. Benjamin Glilow, Forest Bailey and other well known labor organizers and sympathizers come occasionally to New York to advise and consult, but Weisbord is complete leader of his forces.

Pastor Freed of Federal Charges

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 27.—Federal charges against the Rev. Thomas Hubert Jones, former pastor of Philadelphia, were dismissed late yesterday at a preliminary hearing before U. S. Commissioner Head.

Jones was accused of transporting Mildred Lever, 19-year-old girl, from Philadelphia to Los Angeles.

The preacher was given into custody of the local police, who claimed him on a fugitive warrant from Philadelphia, where it was said he had been indicted on larceny and forgery charges.

Babe Ruth, Tris Speaker, Jesse Burkett, and numerous other baseball players famous for their hitting broke into the majors as pitchers.

CLASS ANNOUNCED

A new gymnasium class, to accommodate another group of busy men, has been announced by the Y. M. C. A.

The class will meet at 6:30 Monday and Thursday nights and will be for men who are unable to get away from business in time to attend the 5 o'clock classes. A short setting up drill will be given at the opening of the class, followed by half an hour of volley ball. The class period will be for about 45 minutes.

Three mornings in the week, a class meets at 8 o'clock, with 90 or more men in attendance, and on three afternoons, at 5:15, another class meets, with 30 or 40 men present. The new class, meeting at 6:30, on Mondays and Thursdays, will provide for 20 or 30 men, who find the hour convenient for exercise.

GABBERT DISCUSSES REALTY BUSINESS IN CALIFORNIA AT ASSOCIATED BOARDS SESSION

Adoption of by-laws, addresses by J. R. Gabbert, state real estate commissioner; Glen Willaman, secretary of the California Real Estate association; Everett A. White, past president of the state association; entertainment features provided by five of the seven realty boards in the county, old time dances, with old time fiddlers furnishing the music, marked the quarterly meeting of Associated Realty Boards of Orange county in the I. O. O. F. hall, Anaheim, last night, as one of the liveliest and most successful sessions of the organization held in recent months.

Women of the encampment served 101 men and women with a sumptuous meal in the banquet room of the hall and, following a brief business session at the tables, presided over by Mayor Harry H. Crooks, of Fullerton, president of the county body, adjournment was had to another hall in the building, where the entertainment program was staged.

Correct Confusing Points
The by-laws merely corrected points in the old set that were confusing, definitely set January as the month for the annual meeting and election of officers and gave the name of Associated Realty Boards of Orange County to the organization.

E. T. Elliott, of Fullerton, reported that investigations had disclosed that the proposed construction of a boulevard, from the south end of Spadra street, Fullerton, through Anaheim to Costa Mesa, should be undertaken as a county project rather than as one under a series of assessment districts. He pointed out that the highway would reduce the distance between Anaheim and Newport Beach by five miles.

Discussing activities of the real estate department of the state, Gabbert recounted that he had visited a large number of boards in the state in the last month in company with Harry Culver, president of the state association, and Secretary Willaman, but that he nevertheless had been busy in caring for the details of his office, and, in the period of 25 days, had revoked a large number of licenses because of irregularities by men who held licenses to operate as brokers or salesmen.

Pointing out that he had been a newspaper man for 25 years, in which profession he always was keen for human interest stories, the commissioner said that in his five months as head of the state department, he had found more human interest stories than he ever had thought possible when he was in the newspaper business. He promised to visit every board in Orange county soon and related some of the human interest stories developing in his office.

He complimented the state association and said that it had been of wonderful assistance to him in proper administration of the California real estate law.

Growing in Strength
Willaman declared that the association is growing in numerical strength and in influence in moulding public opinion that is more favorable to men who sell real estate under the code as established by the state organization. He commented on the wonderful progress made in the last five or six years in developing real estate selling as a profession and said that the progress would not have been possible had it not been for the association and realty boards.

Asserting that in handling Orange county property, the truth is all-sufficient, White warned against extravagant and dishonest statements concerning real estate here or anywhere else.

"All the dishonest people are not in the real estate business," the former president of the state association said, in declaring in too many instances property owners are dishonest in their dealings with realtors.

"They seem to be honest in all business dealings except those they have with brokers and they resort to dishonest subterfuges to beat the broker out of his commission," he commented. He urged an educational campaign that would teach the responsibility of property owners to real estate dealers.

Boards Offer Program
Entertainment included contributions provided by boards as follows:

Fullerton, Scotch songs by William Robertson, accompanied by Mrs. A. C. Hannah Santa Ana, novelty dances by Miss Helen Hull with L. R. Crawford at the piano, and vocal selections by Mrs. Ruth Madelener, accompanied at the piano by Leonora Tompkins, the vocalist offering "Mena" (Zucca), "Matinata" (Tosti) and "In the Garden of My Heart" (Ball); Orange, vocal numbers by Mrs. Flora Lelores, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Mae Coe and violin by Mrs. W. A. Martin; Anaheim, vocal selections by Ray Mendoza, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Ashland; Laguna Beach, readings by Marjorie Gowen, the little miss reciting, in a clever manner, "Prince in the Moon," "Innocence" and "Castor Oil."

Brief remarks were made by F. C. Pope, of Santa Ana, vice president of the California Real Estate association, Judge J. S. Howard, Anaheim, and E. T. Elliott, Fullerton.

Dancing concluded the evening, with J. W. Hill fiddling old-time music and L. R. Crawford accompanying him at the piano. Ben Maygenille, of Santa Ana, officiated as called for an old quadrille.

SMALL BOYS HOLD PREP CLASS SOCIAL

Eighty-two small boys enjoyed themselves at the Y. M. C. A. Thursday afternoon, when the "prep" class had its monthly social and "get-together" in the gymnasium and swimming pool.

The boys had their usual Thursday afternoon swim, after which they went to the gymnasium for an hour of games and a program, which was filled with surprises for them. Their fun ended at 5:30, with refreshments. Secretary McKee announced that there would be another party for the group in about a month.

More than 100 Pioneer club boys are expected to be at the Y tonight.

SMART SPEAKS AT AD CLUB MEETING

The Santa Ana Advertising club held an interesting and instructive meeting at St. Ann's Inn yesterday noon, when Chairman Halsey Lamme offered a program dealing with the actual experiences of Smart and Final encountered in exploiting their coffee business.

The principal speaker was J. E. Dockman, a coffee expert, brought here seven years ago, when the Santa Ana concern entered the coffee field. He told the story of coffee from its discovery; the countries where it is produced; the various kinds of coffee; how it is blended; and the marketing of the finished product to the dealers.

J. S. Smart gave credit to advertising as a leading factor in building up a large volume of coffee business for his company. Smart cited his experience with the advertising of various products and told the club that he had been convinced that advertising cannot work miracles with any product which does not possess merit.

"Your product must be right," said Smart. President Wilbur Barr announced the addition of R. L. Bisby, W. H. Hanley, Carl Stein and Halsey Lamme to the club's board of directors to fill vacancies until the next regular election.

52 ATTEND BIBLE STUDY CLASS MEET

The second session of the Friday Noon Bible Study Luncheon club, at the Y. M. C. A. was attended by 52 men, who spent a profitable luncheon hour in conversation, singing, eating and listening to the Bible study, presented by the Rev. F. T. Porter.

The study was on the lesson for next Sunday in the Sunday schools, which gave the Rev. Mr. Porter a fine opportunity for a discussion of the duties of the Christian citizen as regards his relation to law and order. He spoke at length of the importance of law enforcement and of a greater respect for American institutions and pointed out the need of a religious awakening as a means of putting a stop to the present wave of crime and lawlessness in America.

J. A. Cranston presided at the session and Lyle Forman acted as song leader. Plans are being made to welcome many additional members to the club next Friday, when it will hold its next meeting.

Great Britain has not developed a world's heavyweight champion since the late Bob Fitzsimmons left Cornwall nearly 35 years ago.

MANY IN RACE FOR ESTATE OF J. H. BRUNNER

Is your name Brunner? If it is, why not get in on the $100,000 race being staged by other Brunners in this country, Canada and Switzerland, for the property, valued at that amount, left by J. H. Brunner, 83, who died early this month?

The deceased Brunner was a native of Switzerland and settled in Orange county about 35 years ago. He had been declared incompetent and had lived in Patton, in the state's quarters there, for the last 21 years. He died there, blind and helpless, apparently without a relative in the world.

Following his death, it was learned that he left an estate, valued at close to $100,000. The money is represented in property in this county, stocks, bonds and mortgages, and now is in the hands of Charles D. Brown, public administrator, having been turned over to him by George Smith, of Smith and Tutill's funeral parlors, who, for the last 21 years, has been guardian for Brunner.

It was the announcement of Brunner's death and the fact that he left a vast estate that started the race for his possessions and each day the entries increase, according to Brown.

Letters, postcards, telegrams and telephone calls are coming in every day to Administrator Brown, asking for further information or claiming the estate.

Lawyers have written, asking for further information for their clients, who happen to be named Brunner, and a live fight for the estate is in prospect.

It will be up to a judge of the superior court to determine just which of the Brunners will inherit the estate. In the meantime, it will be kept by the public administrator for the next five years. In case none of the Brunners can claim the estate legally within the next five years, it will be declared the property of the state of California.

So if your name is Brunner, get busy—you may be just around the corner from riches.

JUNIOR DIVISION OF CHAMBER TO ELECT

Election of officers, Monday night, by the junior division of the chamber of commerce, is expected to bring out a record attendance. A number of candidates for president have been mentioned, the two leading candidates being Mason Yould and William Iverson. In addition to a president, two vice presidents, secretary, sergeant-at-arms and 15 directors will be elected.

The entertainment committee for the program Monday night is headed by Francis Westgate. Members are George Baker, Malcolm Severance, Charles Van Wyck and George Wheeler. Tedd Griggs, Cyrus Featherly and Arthur Derby, prominent local singers, will offer a trio number from "The Love Garden," an operetta, which recently was produced in this city. Miss Virginia Bailey, soprano, will sing, accompanied on the violin by Georgia Bell Walton and at the piano by Mary Bruner.

In today's issue of "The Boomer," official organ of the junior division, announcement is made of the next junior division dance, to be held March 6, in the Ebbell clubhouse. Flake Smith, Ridley Smith and E. M. Sundquist are members of the dance committee.

Announcement also is made in the paper that the three-minute talks on the development of Orange county harbor, which were scheduled to be given Monday night, have been postponed.

for their regular roundup. At 5 o'clock, they will swim, after which they are to enjoy a barbecue, served out-of-doors, and a short campfire program. Later in the evening, they will adjourn to the gymnasium, where they will put on an indoor track meet.

TINY GLAND GETS UP NIGHTS

Do you know that a great percentage of all men of mature years are troubled with urinary irritations and disorders of a little gland—the Prostate? When this tiny but very vital gland begins to "show up," many distressing ailments may arise, such as nervousness, restlessness, frequent night risings, scanty, painful, smarting, difficult urination—and sometimes lack of control. But now at last, there is a praiseworthy treatment for these annoying symptoms, that according to signed statements has brought sweet relief to many thousands. The treatment is pleasant and perfectly harmless and so seemingly remarkable in action that for a short time a liberal "proof of merit" trial size is being offered absolutely free to convince people of its amazing efficiency. ABSOLUTELY FREE. Just send your name and address and 10c to help pay postage and packing, and by return mail you will get the liberal trial package. Act at once, as the offer may be made for a short time only. Write today to The Palmer Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Dist. A-451.

STREET STOPS INSTALLED AT INTERSECTIONS ON NORTH MAIN

City Engineer and Commissioner Continue Investigation of Traffic Problem

WILL HALT CARS AT DANGER CROSSINGS

Motor Club Official Questions Efficacy of System in Preventing Accidents

By HORACE FINE
Automobile Editor Register

Stanley Goode, street commissioner, and Nat H. Neff, city engineer, today were continuing their investigations as to the advisability of installing boulevard stops at a number of the most dangerous intersections in the city.

The two officials already have decided to stop cars at all streets intersecting Main street north from Seventh street to the city limits, and stop signs are now being placed on the pavement where cross streets have been improved with this type of road construction. Later they will install stop buttons in the center of the streets and also will have auto club stop signs posted at the traffic corners of the cross streets.

Stops at Fourth and Bristol

It is the opinion of the officials that stops are not necessary on more than one street crossing east Fourth or West Fourth. That location is the intersection of Bristol and West Fourth and halting of cars there has been the regulations for many months. It was pointed out that there are not many through streets running north and south crossing Fourth street where protection does not already exist by reason of 15-mile zones. Main and Broadway, two of the most dangerous points on Fourth, are protected to some extent by the 15-mile zone program. Cars already are quite well under control when these two points are reached, and there is little reason for boulevard stops. The same situation obtains on other close-in streets crossing the main east and west thoroughfares.

Later it is expected that marking of South Main street, from First south to Edinger street, and perhaps to the city limits, will be undertaken by the officials. This is the program and there is no doubt as to plans being executed.

The officials were interested today in comments as to the efficacy of boulevard stops in a letter from E. B. Leffers, manager of the public safety department of the Automobile Club of Southern California. Neff wrote the department head for a check of club records of accidents occurring in Santa Ana. Pointing out that checking of accidents in Los Angeles has been ineffective in proving anything either for or against boulevard stops, the manager says:

Do Stops Prevent Accidents?
"As you undoubtedly realize, boulevard stops, since their inception in Chicago, have proven very

O'Donnell Now In New Headquarters

Harold O'Donnell, Gardner dealer here, today was located in new agency headquarters, formerly the Chevrolet location, on the northeast corner of Ross and Fifth streets.

O'Donnell has taken a lease on all of the big building and will utilize it in his sales and service departments. Gene Thomas, the dealer said, has been named as foreman of the repair shop, where service will be given Gardner cars and machines of other makes.

DRIVERS WITH OLD LICENSES TO BE NABBED

Motorists operating their cars with last year's license plates gracing the front and rear of their machines are due for a jolt on and after next Monday, according to instructions received here today by H. S. Warner, captain of the squad of state motorcycle officers operating in Orange county.

Will H. Marsh, chief of the motor vehicle division, has issued instructions to all state motorcycle officers to stop all motor vehicles traveling on the highways of California that are not equipped with 1925 plates, and arrest operators who cannot produce satisfactory evidence that they have made application to the division for new plates. Such operators will be charged with a misdemeanor under section 15 of the motor vehicle act, and in addition will be required to pay double for their plates.

Marsh informed the officers that the applications of a few car owners have not yet been filed because of failure to comply with the regulations of the division. Improper mail addresses or other technicalities. Such persons will be allowed to proceed upon a proper showing that they have actually made an attempt to secure their plates.

"Technically, any person operating a motor vehicle without new plates after January 31 is guilty of a violation, but the division makes no attempt to enforce the law to this extent because thousands of renewal applications are received on the last few days prior to that date," Marsh advised.

'A. Y. D.' REPLACES 'F. O. B.' DETROIT

"A. y. d." (at your door) are letters that promise to supplant the well known automotive grouping of "f. o. b. Detroit," in the opinion of R. W. Townsend, of the Townsend Motor company, Hudson-Essex distributor.

The Hudson-Essex company has instructed dealers to drop, in their advertising and publicity, "f. o. b." prices and to always give the prices on cars, "delivered at your door."

"The company has threatened to sweep away the usage of the former system of auto pricing," Townsend said. "It is very probable the 'f. o.

UNIFORM ROAD SIGNS PLANNED FOR SOUTHLAND

Eleven of 13 Counties Act Against Advertising Devices on Public Highways

Uniform highway warnings and direction signs, unmarred by advertising devices, will add to the safety and pleasure of future touring in this section as a result of action that has been taken by 11 of the 13 southern counties of California. It is expected that the remaining two counties, Orange and Kern, soon will follow the example set, thus making all Southern California a unit of uniformity.

The similar ordinances adopted by the various boards of supervisors provide that signs shall not be posted along the highways, except by special permission of the board of supervisors. They also provide that the existing sign-posting facilities and methods shall be continued so long as the service rendered is satisfactory.

"This provision is taken to refer to the sign-posting work done by the Automobile Club of Southern California, which pioneered this activity in this section, and which at present has placed and maintains some 66,000 road signs in the 13 southern counties," said Elmer Heidt, manager of the Santa Ana branch of the club.

"The county ordinance adopted covering this work is similar to the state law affecting state highways. Action was taken by the county authorities in answer to a general demand of the motoring public that the roadsides be kept free from signs which do not pertain to travel. Enterprising advertisers had begun to intimate direction and warning signs in order to attract the attention of motorists to the exploitation of the articles advertised. The result was confusion and danger, and in some instances, the obscuring of legitimate direction and warning signs.

"The unification of direction and warning signs throughout Southern California is generally regarded as another step in the promotion of safe and enjoyable motoring. A uniform traffic ordinance is under consideration in many cities in the 13 southern counties and has already been adopted in leading population centers. It is believed that other communities will follow and that, before the heavy summer touring begins, the 13 southern counties not only will have uniform traffic regulations, but will have uniform directing and warning signs, a situation highly desirable for the thousands of strangers from other states who will tour this section."

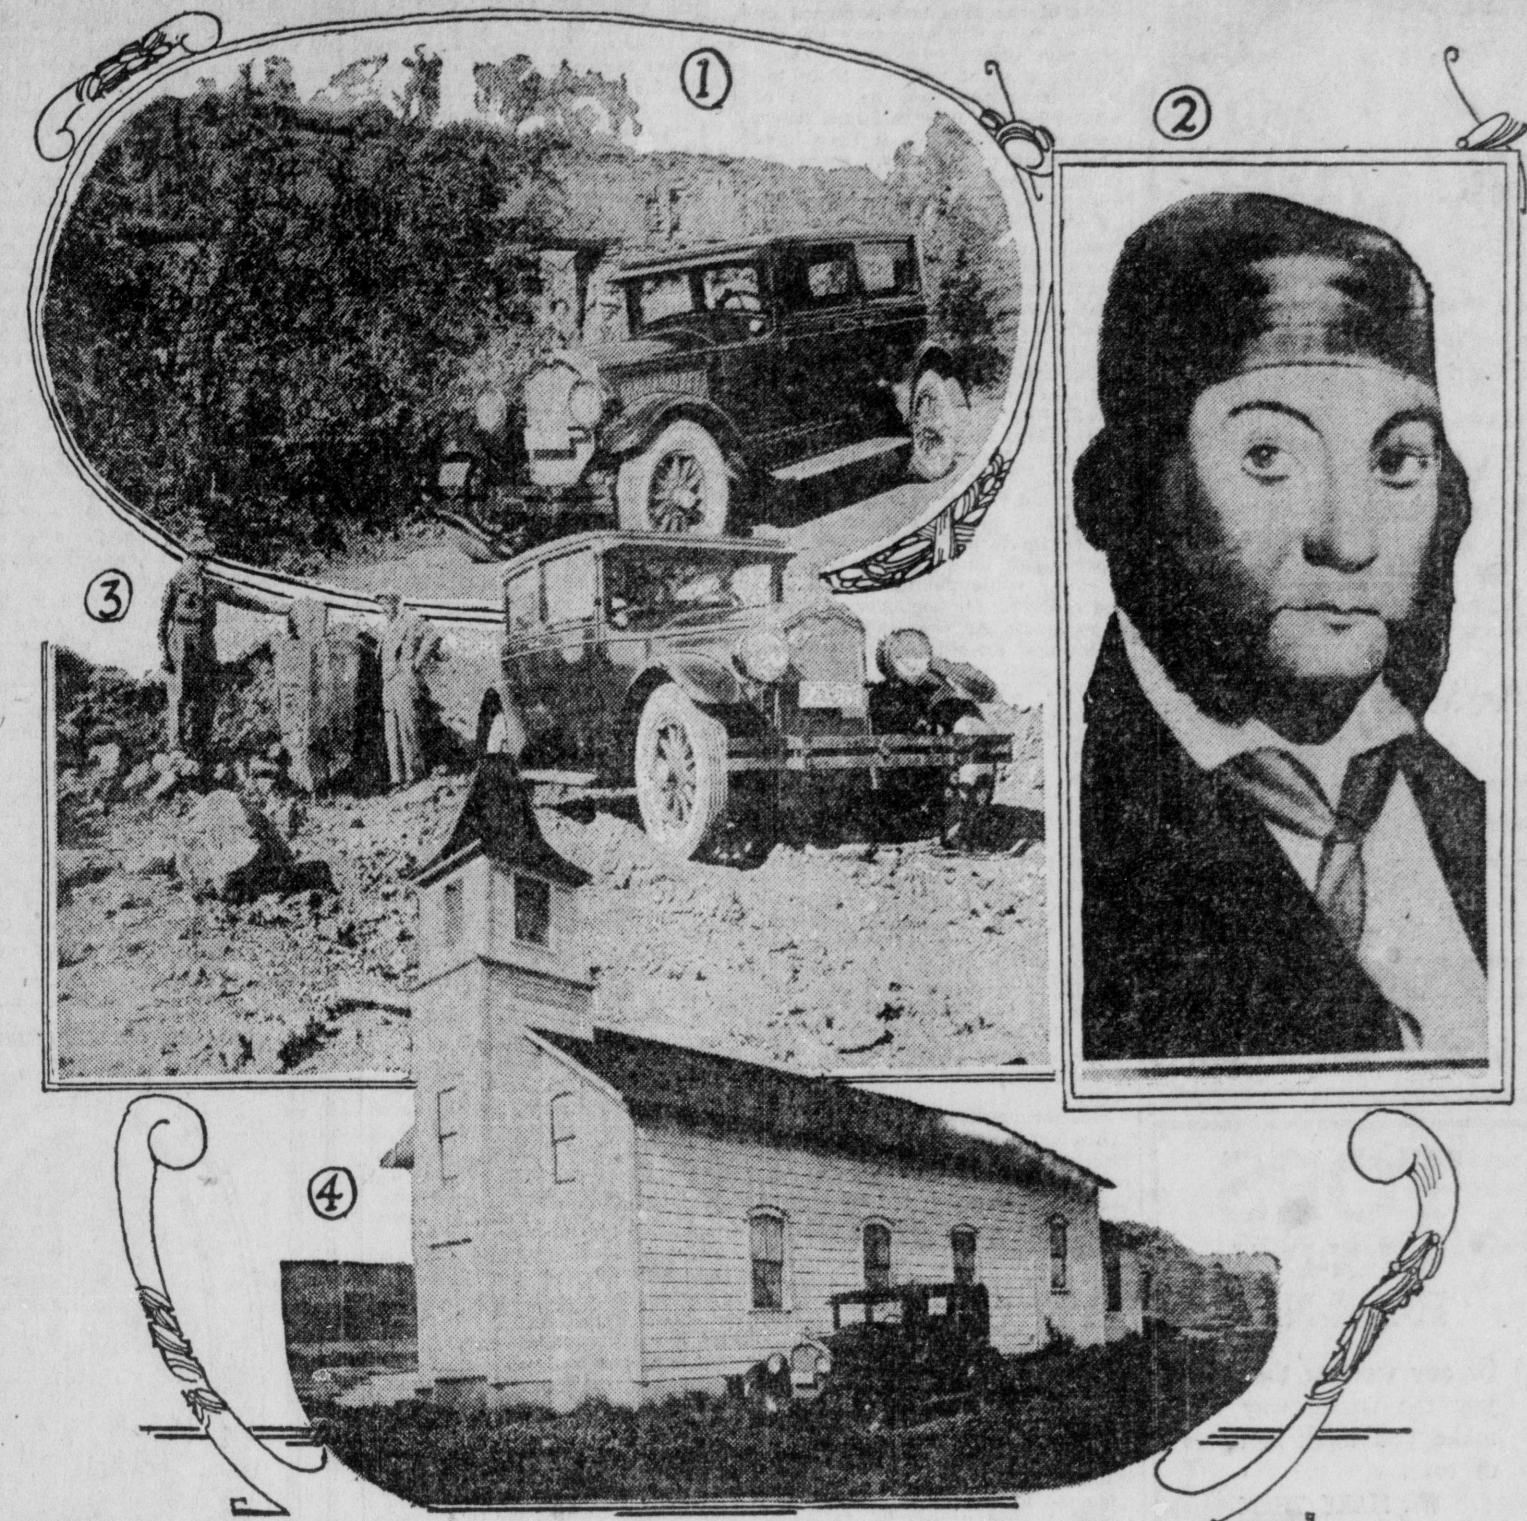

b. Detroit' grouping of letters and words has been printed more times than the most famous sayings of history and literature. It is estimated that the group has been printed more than a trillion times."

In connection with the "at your door" quotations on the "at your door" was pointed out, the quoted prices include all the accessories that every autist wants.

HISTORIC RUINS OF FAMOUS YORBA HACIENDA IN SANTA ANA CANYON ARE VISITED BY BUICK PARTY

No. 1—Buick two-door sedan from Reid Motor company standing in front of an adobe building on the old Bernardo Yorba estate, at Yorba, which soon will be demolished.

No. 2—Bernardo Yorba, who ruled over 75,000 acres in the Santa Ana valley, given him by the King of Spain, and who established the well known Yorba family here and who built the hacienda, said to have contained 200 rooms. It is said that more than 100 of his descendants still reside in the Yorba district.

No. 3—All that remains of the Yorba hacienda, once famous for the hospitality dispensed by its owner, a Spanish don. The Buick two-door sedan is standing on what was once the floor of the adobe mansion. At the left, H. R. Kraemer, son of Samuel Kraemer, owner, displaying to J. W. ### DODGE ANNOUNCES EXCISE TAX CUT

Lawrence Coffing, president and manager of L. D. Coffing company, distributor for Dodge Brothers cars in Orange county, today received a telegram from the manufacturing company, making effective at once the reduction in excise taxes made in the new revenue bill.

The company advised that it did not want to penalize persons who may want to buy Dodge Brothers equipment at this time and therefore was putting the reduction in effect at once.

The reduction of two per cent was made on the basis of factory prices and, on individual units amounts to $15.90 on the Standard touring; $17.90 on the Special B sedan; $18.90 on the Special B sedan; and $21.50 on the Special A sedan.

These reductions follow price cuts made by the company on January 7, varying from $85 to $205.

IMPORTANCE OF USED AUTO SALES TO MOTOR INDUSTRY TOLD BY CHEVROLET CHIEF

Completing the annual zone meeting, in Los Angeles, of the Chevrolet Motor company, R. H. Grant, vice president and general sales manager, and other officials of the company departed yesterday for Salt Lake City, where another zone convention will be held, according to announcement today by J. B. MacMullen, Santa Ana distributor for the Chevrolet.

MacMullen and other representatives of the company in Orange county, including salesmen, were present at the convention, held Wednesday.

The visiting officials of the big motor company were entertained royally during their stay in the Southland and were special guests at the auto show in Los Angeles.

Grant, in discussing various phases of the motor industry, in public and private, declared that the motor manufacturers and dealers this year should give first consideration to the used car problem.

"During the last few years, the automobile-buying public has demonstrated its buying power for used as well as new cars, but the

GARAGE ANNOUNCES SPECIAL SERVICE

Establishment of Saturday night and Sunday service was announced today by G. T. Hoffman and W. E. Van Horn, owners of Van Horn's garage, 315-17 West Fifth street.

Pointing out that night and Sunday service is not generally available to motorists with cars that need attention, the proprietors said that they would be in a position to offer service on any make of car. The garage also maintains a tow car service.

Hoffman recently has become identified with the garage, having purchased the interests of Gene Roe. He formerly was engaged in the same business in Turlock, but came here direct from Denver, where he was in business for a time.

The firm also carries a full line of Ford parts and auto accessories.

Tustin Benefit Nets P. T. A. $40

TUSTIN, Feb. 27.—Approximately $40 was realized by the Parent-Teacher association last night at a benefit program staged at the grammar school auditorium in an effort to raise money to pay for milk served to children of the primary department. The program was put on under the supervision of Mrs. H. C. Kirk, chairman of the finance committee of the P. T. A.

Songs and other musical selections featured the program, with children of the first and second grades presenting a minuet dance and other children of the primary department giving an operetta.

The program was opened by solo numbers by Miss Ola Blair, head of the music department of the grammar school. Hugh Rannels sang several solos. The "Box of Dolls" was the operetta presented by children of the primary department. Miss Lavene Parks sang solo numbers and Miss Virginia Prichard presented a solo dance during the operetta.

Arthur A. Smith sang several numbers, accompanied by James Willis Rice on the violin. Mr. Rice later played several violin solos, one of his own composition. Miss Lucy Royce also played several violin selections. Duet numbers were presented by Miss Thelma Nordstrom and Hugh Rannels. Mrs. Loren Hurd played the piano accompaniment for the singers. A minuet by the first and second grade children and a grand finale in which all of the singers and players took part, closed the program.

FAMOUS YORBA HOMESTEAD IS TRAMPLED INTO DARK HISTORY

Civilization, in Ruthless March, Destroying Spanish
Landmark of County

ADOBE RELICS OF EARLY DAYS RAZED

Ruins of Once Noted Home
Of Dons Calls to Mind
Quaint Customs of Old

Landmarks of Orange county are gradually disappearing—giving way, as it were, to march of civilization—and unless some concerted effort is made to preserve them, it will be but a matter of time when such places will remain in history only.

An old landmark, which now is being dismantled merely that it may become a part of a barley patch, is the Yorba hacienda, at Yorba. It is declared to have been one of the most outstanding of the county and the ruthless hand of modern civilization today had all but completed the dismantling of the old adobe structure by tearing out adobe brick that were made and laid nearly 100 years ago.

The old hacienda is located on lands now belonging to Samuel Kraemer, oil magnate, of Anaheim and Fullerton, and demolition of the quaint old structure is being accomplished under the supervision of A. R. Kraemer, a son.

"It is regrettable that something could not have been done to have preserved this old relic of the days of the dons, for the Yorba home in the early days was one of the points where genuine hospitality was dispensed to friends of the family and to warfarers who happened along in a jaunt through the district," said J. W. Tubbs, manager of the Reid Motor company, and until recently mayor of Santa Ana. With a group of friends, Tubbs visited the ruins this week, driving his party in a two-door sedan, one of the popular models of the Buick line.

Contained 200 Rooms
The old building, originally was a two-story structure approximately 125 feet in length and contained in its three units, constructed around a patio, 200 rooms. According to the best information obtainable, it was erected in 1835 by Indians employed by Bernardo Yorba, who owned an estate extending from Corona to the sea. Yorba was an influential don and the rancho was given him by the King of Spain.

When Tubbs reached the old adobe, wrecking of the old walls had almost been completed. Mexican workmen being engaged in the work of destruction.

Many of the mud brick were found to be in a good state of preservation and were used in their manufacture. It was found, in many instances, to gleam as it did in the day when it was mixed in the mud to compose part of the mixture from which the bricks were made.

The old historic place had been going to pieces for some time and, little by little, sections were removed. Big rafters, that were cut in the San Bernardino mountains and hauled to the site by ox teams, under the direction of patient, plodding Indians, had been carried away and used for fire wood.

Oil derricks stand on the foothills back of the old buildings and on lands that in the day of the don

FAMOUS YORBA HOMESTEAD IS VISITORS' GOAL

Adobe Buildings Razed

Another adobe building standing near by, and probably used in the early days as a special stable for some of the fine horses owned by Yorba, soon will give way to the program of improvement planned by the present owner. Near the latter structure are the walls of what probably was an adobe fence, used as a corral, or it may have been some outbuilding. Necessary to the proper carrying out of ranch operations. Across the Santa Fe stands the walls of an adobe Catholic church, probably erected at about the same date as the other adobe structures in the neighborhood. Near the walls is a modern church, built about eight years ago.

Discussing some of the tales that are told concerning the old homestead, Florence Summers writes in the Anaheim Bulletin:

"Superstitions are current that one of the fair daughters of the Yorba family is to be seen on moonlight nights, walking around what was formerly the patio, and singing soft songs to the music of a guitar while gazing to the east and watching for her lover to return from Spain. Another tale is to the effect that an old Indian is occasionally seen walking to the graveyard on the bluff which is now covered with cactus. He never lifts his head and it is only when he leaves the little building on the end of the ruins and goes to the hill on the north. Another story tells of treasure which has been buried in the old patio, and for the past many years, at intervals, people have come at night and dug deep holes searching for the hidden treasure. As late as last week when the buildings were being torn down, new holes were dug, some of them 12 and 15 feet deep and as wide. Even the old walls did not escape for with sharp tools holes were made through the entire four-foot walls.

"Rumor persists that some years ago a chest containing $15,000 was discovered on the mesa to the north and west, but this has not been verified, although since that time it is said that the search has continued. Members of the family scout the idea that treasure is hidden, and knowing the characteristic generosity of the family it is far more likely that money would be spent for entertainment and hospitality which made the Yorba hacienda one of the most popular places in Southern California.

"At the time of the building of the Yorba home, Senor Jose Yorba was the owner of a grant of land from the king of Spain, which included 225,000 acres and extended from Rincon in San Diego county to the ocean. All Riverside and Corona and the vast holdings, where in the rich virgin territory the cattle roamed at will.

"Many historical events are connected with the old ruin. In 1842 General Micheltorena rested at the Yorba homestead and supplied his soldiers with provisions from the ranch. Here was the scene of the biggest fiesta of the year when of Yorba married. The celebration would last for days and the entire countryside would be en fête. Big chests of silks, laces, shawls and jewelry were brought from Spain especially for the occasion.

"Today shawls are owned by different members of the family, and although they are, some of them 200 years old, they are as lovely as the day they came from popular, but on a recent survey covering several weeks, which I made in the east, in cities like Chicago and New York, I was not able to find in but one instance any data on the effectiveness of these as a means of preventing accidents. In that city statistics seemed to prove that boulevard stops increased rather than decreased the number of accidents on the streets after they had been designated as boulevard or arterial streets, due to the increased speed at which vehicles are operated on these thoroughfares.

Street Stops Are Now Installed

"This might not be the case if it were possible to properly police all such streets. However, such has not been the case in any city with which I am familiar. I know the attitude in our community has been to hold down in so far as possible the number that are designated as boulevards, in hopes that, possibly, with a limited number, proper enforcement could be made of this regulation and thereby effect the improvement in accidents which is desired."

GARDEN GROVE

GARDEN GROVE, Feb. 27.—J. G. Allen entertained his Sunday school class on Thursday evening at his home north of town. A jolly time was enjoyed with games and music. Refreshments were served to the following: Kenneth Mitchell, Clarence Hapes, John Darch, Frank Garr, George Tsahura, Dwight Freeman, Drudeo Ida, Walter Darch, Walter Clark and Elmer Hale.

The class in religious education of the M. E. church met at the church Wednesday evening. After supper, the members assembled in the auditorium, where they proceeded with their classes.

Miss Bertha Dickey is home from a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. Frank Cowgill, in Los Angeles, and Mrs. Pearl Glass, at Corona.

The Ladies' Aid society of the M. E. church met in the church parlors Thursday afternoon. After the business meeting, the time was devoted to sewing.

The Misses Mabel and Isabel Northerness and Ruth Mills spent Thursday in Los Angeles.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Aldrich and daughter, Mrs. A. Weichel, of Fontana, were visitors here Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Lehman returned to their home at La Verne Monday after a visit at the home of the latter's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Niles. Mrs. Niles has been quite ill the past two weeks.

Miss Edith Van Vranken spent Wednesday in Los Angeles.

Dr. Charles E. Hurlburt and little grandchild, Rebecca, Mr. and Mrs. J. Stauffer and Miss Grace Moseley attended the orange show at San Bernardino Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Ford attended a dinner of the Brea Air club at the Elks' club, Anaheim, Thursday evening.

Mrs. C. J. Meyers, of Los Angeles, is visiting with her daughter, Mrs. J. Cockerham.

V. J. Barnes has gone to Orlando, Florida, where he has accepted a position. He expects to remain there for several months.

Mrs. Charles Arrowsmith and little son are spending a couple of days at the home of her son Elwood Arrowsmith, at Alhambra.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cook and daughter, Dorothy, and Dr. Long Port, of Los Angeles, were guests on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Allen.

Jack Jentges and Charles Watkins enjoyed fishing at Newport Beach Tuesday.

Miss Lucille Allen attended the life recruit conference at Lake Arrowhead this week.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Lambart were visitors in Coachella valley over Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. German and Mrs. George P. Hall visited the former's sister, Miss Constance Irvine, at Downey, Thursday.

Spain. Some with white, red, green and yellow embroideries, some with black for a background and roses of bright hues, and an especially lovely one of royal purple with a silk fringe twelve or fourteen inches long.

"But this is all a thing of the past now, for on the high lands overlooking the Santa Ana river, where once the proud castle of the Yorbas stood, nothing remains except a heap of crumbling adobe bricks thrown hastily into a barranca near the site. Even the ancient trees have seen the vision of a flowering spring season for the last time, and they, too, have gone to join the walls they graced. In a tumbled mound of clay adobe slabs which were fast melting under the soft warm rains of spring."

Tod Morgan Wins First Eastern Go

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—Tod Morgan, Seattle, Wash., world's junior lightweight champion, slashed his way to a 10 round victory over Don Davis, California, in the main event of a boxing card in the East Chicago arena last night.

The champion carried the fight to his opponent in almost every round and his punches carried plenty of steam. Davis was wont to do too much punching with open gloves.

CARS WILL BE PUT THROUGH STRICT TESTS

A section and a quarter of land, 12 miles from its South Bend plant, has been purchased by the Studebaker Corporation of America and will be developed into the last word for proving and experimental grounds, according to announcement by Harry D. Riley, county distributor for the Studebaker.

"Over rough roads, through sand and mud, up and down hills, theories and plans of the engineering and experimental departments of the corporation must meet the actual test of use," Riley said. "The task of tester will be to try to break down cars and put to the acid test every idea submitted to them for trial."

"A car or a car part which survives the trial it meets on this unique 800-acre tract never will worry its owner. No owner ever will meet the combination of bad roads which the tested cars must conquer."

"The Studebaker test ground covers matted hills, besides a level plain. A straightaway track of a mile and a quarter, 20 feet wide, is ample for pick-up and acceleration, rolling friction and fuel economy tests; for braking trials and for determining adjustments necessary for wide speed range."

"A three-mile loop, with 20-foot driveway for endurance tests at sustained high speed, will permit driving up to 75 miles per hour. This is sufficient to bring out first evidence of wear, so that provision may be made in manufacturing to meet that wear."

"But it is the hill road, winding up and down gradients of varying steepness, which brings out the power capacity of the car and will be the scene of the most picturesque and interesting tests. Long, continuous grades of 7 per cent, 9 per cent and 12 per cent will mark the outward journey over the hill road."

LA HABRA BRIEFS

LA HABRA, Feb. 27.—Members of her bridge club and several additional guests were entertained Thursday afternoon by Mrs. J. I. Williams in her new ranch home north of La Habra. A 1 o'clock luncheon was served before the progression at cards was started. Mrs. Leuhm took high honors, with Mrs. Channing securing second. Those present included Mrs. C. E. Roddy, Mrs. R. H. Hilbert, Mrs. E. L. Leuhm, Mrs. Gus Lindauer, Mrs. A. J. Wilson, Mrs. J. W. Smith, Mrs. A. J. Young, Mrs. George Schlagenhauff, Mrs. Roy Barker, Mrs. W. L. Rhodes, Mrs. J. A. Channing and Mrs. Williams.

Twelve numbered the group which enjoyed a bridge dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Roddy Wednesday evening. The dinner table was centered with a doll dressed as Martha Washington and like favors were used at the places and for score tallies. Mrs. Wilson and Mr. Thompson took high honors at bridge. Those for whom places were arranged included Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Rhodes, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Barker and Mr. and Mrs. George Schlagenhauff.

William Merriman has recovered enough from his accident to be able to walk for some time. He slipped about a week ago and in falling, struck his knee cap.

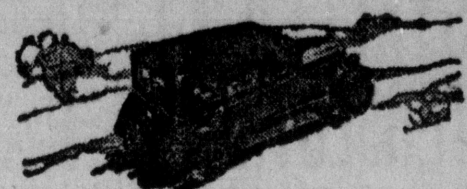

La Habra friends have received word telling of the death of Count De Ziska, which occurred in the Kings county sanitarium, New York. De Ziska, who was of Austrian parentage, was a well known magician and appeared here for entertainments during his stay in La Habra.

Fathers of the La Habra grammar school district are to be honored next Wednesday evening, when the La Habra Parent-Teacher association will hold its annual fathers night entertainment. A program and reception has been planned.

from the offices and experimental laboratories. On the return, steep hills up to 20 and 25 per cent will make the ultimate demand on power performance of a car."

Thrilling speed—yet Unmatched Smoothness

Sixty miles an hour and more is not uncommon among able motor cars. But sixty miles and more with perfect smoothness and steadiness is rare—so rare as to be virtually exclusive to the Oakland Six.

This unmatched freedom from vibration at all speeds is made possible by a new invention, The Harmonic Balancer, described by automotive engineers as the outstanding achievement in years.

If you have not seen The Harmonic Balancer—if you have not tested its amazing effect upon car performance—drive the new Oakland Six and experience the new thrill of an unvarying smoothness.

SENATE ACTION IS DELAYED BY GRIP OF GRIPPE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The grippe has gripped the senate and is blocking the nation's legislative business.

With one-fourth of the 96 senators ill during the last week and a half, committee meetings have been temporarily discontinued, committee reports held up, action on bills and resolutions in the senate deferred and early adjournments taken.

A three-day week and recess was taken last week, partly because of the illness of senators scheduled to participate in the debate on the Walsh aluminum resolution.

Muscle Shoals, the Schall-Johnson and the Brookhart-Steck senatorial contests and the aluminum investigation are among items on the senate's calendar that have been or are being held up because of the winter ailment prevalence.

Tuesday, 25 senators were absent, most of them because of illness. Not one was absent to escape voting on the tax bill, however, as announcement of their positions were made before the vote.

Senators who were still out yesterday, through illness, included Johnson, California, Republican.

A half dozen or more other senators have been out a day or two with illness. The extent of the absences was realized Thursday when, even at the beginning of the day, it was necessary for the senate to sit at arms to empty the lounging room to bring in enough senators for a quorum and when, after a two-hour debate, a vote was taken on the deficiency bill, a quorum could not be obtained and the matter had to go over.

Court Notes

Pleads Not Guilty

Arraigned on a burglary charge yesterday, before Superior Judge E. J. Marks Alexander Ortiz pleaded not guilty. His trial was set for March 17. Ortiz is accused of breaking into a Southern Pacific section house at Fruit street, Santa Ana, on February 6.

Sum Up Evidence

Attorneys in the case of the Sun Oil company of California against the Union Drilling and Petroleum company, involving dispute over a well deepening contract in Huntington Beach, were summing up the evidence today before Superior Judge R. Y. Williams. Trial of the case was completed earlier in the week. A drilling claim of $40,000 hinges on the court ruling.

Suit Being Heard

The suit filed by Scott Cunningham against A. V. Fuller, demanding $500, alleged to be due on a note, was being heard today by Superior Judge E. J. Marks.

The note was given by J. L. Hughes to Fuller and assigned by Fuller to Cunningham. Fuller, in defense of the court action, claims that it was agreed, when he assigned the note to Cunningham, that the words, "without recourse" should be placed on the note, but were omitted by mistake. Their incorporation would have absolved Fuller from liability for his indorsement of the note.

Near 25,000 Mark

Registration in Orange county was nearing the 25,000 mark today, figures announced by County Clerk J. M. Backs showing a total of 24,019, an increase of approximately 3000 in the last week and about 6000 in the last two weeks. Leading their nearest rivals by a ratio of more than 3 to 1, the Republicans mustered 16,851. The Democratic registration was 5383. Those declining to state party affiliation formed the next largest group, with 1960. Other party totals were: Prohibition, 446; non-partisan, 118; Socialist, 103; Independent, 73; progressive, 36; scattering, 81.

Association Wins Case

The Orange County Credit association was granted judgment for $475 on a note in a suit against A. Ray Teter, heard late yesterday by Superior Judge R. Y. Williams. Besides the principal, the judgment also included $36.47 interest, $60 attorney fees and $10.75 costs. Attorney S. B. Kaufman represented the credit association.

Sentiment Favors Exclusion of Vera

NEW YORK, Feb. 27.—"If a mistake has been made in the ruling excluding Countess Cathcart, the sentiment we get in hundreds of letters daily sustains us in that error," W. W. Husband, assistant secretary of labor and a member of the board of review, which decided the case adversely to Vera, declared today.

"Most of the comments have come in as a result of the bath tub incident in New York and the party which the countess was supposed to have attended," Husband said.

KNIGHTS NAME COMMITTEE ON NOMINATIONS

Election of a nominating committee and discussion of arrangements for attending the state convention, to be held April 10, at Fresno, were among matters taken up at yesterday's luncheon meeting of the Santa Ana Knights of the Round Table, held at St. Ann's Inn.

Dr. Frank A. Ashmore, W. I. Stewart and Harold E. Nelson were elected to the nominating committee, which is to submit a report at the next regular meeting. Election of officers for the current year will be held Friday, March 12.

Dr. James Workman, chairman of the juvenile committee, voicing disappointment over the little interest shown in juvenile welfare, said that the country as a whole is suffering from too much talk and not enough action.

"When someone takes us by the collar, stands up on our feet, and tells us a few uncomfortable facts, we suddenly grow super-enthusiastic about this and that proposition," he remarked. "To show the word that we realize our social responsibilities, and that furthermore we mean business, we appoint a few committees and adopt a handful of resolutions, demanding such and such a reform, following which outburst of enthusiasm we adopt the 'Let George do it' policy, and allow the issue to die a natural death for want of support and interest."

William Fogle Files Petition

ORANGE, Feb. 27.—A sixth person had today entered the race for city trustee at Orange, when the petition declaring the candidacy of William C. Fogle, West Chapman street barber, was filed with City Clerk Cal Lester.

Fogle's petition is the sixth to be filed with the city clerk. No other petitions are out at the present time.

Finer Transportation at Lower Cost

More Buicks are now being sold than ever before in Buick history. And an important reason is the fact that, though expensively built, a Buick may be inexpensively purchased.

Buick could spend less money building its chassis, and still keep the quality up to the average in Buick's price class. The famous Buick Valve-in-Head engine is a more expensive type to build. Buick could use a steering gear less expensive than the 5-control-surface steering mechanism which adds so much to Buick's driving ease. The Torque-Tube Drive also adds expense to Buick manufacture, as do the "Sealed Chassis," the "Triple Sealed" engine, full pressure engine lubrication, the Buick multiple-disc, dry-plate clutch, and Buick mechanical 4-wheel brakes.

Buick closed bodies are built by Fisher to the most exacting standards laid down by any manufacturer today.

Quality, regardless of its cost, rules Buick design. But thanks to the sustained popularity of this quality, purchasers actually pay less for it. Vast volume gives Buick owners finer transportation at lower cost. Your next car should be a Better Buick!

Are You Being Sold or Served?

IS your motor car maker serving you or selling you—which? Does he intrigue you with yearly models and rash promises or does he protect your investment?

To serve means a new car only every four or five years—or more. To sell means a new car every year or two—or even less!

Packard is in the business of serving—knowing that those who serve best will never want for sales.

Evidently the public appreciates that Packard is serving, for more than twice as many Packard Six cars were bought in 1925 as in 1924.

The Packard Six with all its comfort, beauty and distinction is not high in price—for example, the five-passenger sedan costs but $2975 in California. And there is a liberal monthly payment plan which removes the last reason why anyone should not be served by a Packard Six.

The Packard Six may be had in nine beautiful, distinctive body types, four open and five enclosed.

CRAMER AND MILLS PLANT, WHERE MIMAX FINISHES ARE APPLIED TO MOTOR CARS

Plant of Cramer and Mills, 509 East Fourth street, where Mimax automobile finishes are applied. Mimax is the trade name identifying the new lacquer products of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company.

New Lacquer Product of Plate Glass Company Proves Lasting

The Mimax station, operated at 509 East Fourth street by C. A. Cramer and G. W. Mills, is proving successfully that the new lacquer products of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass company produce a finish on automobiles that is lasting, according to Cramer.

Pointing out that the Mimax system for automobile finishing was perfected and placed on the market in 1924, the representative said that the permanence and economy of this finish justify its name, "Mimax" for minimum expense and "Max" for maximum service.

"The new product is not a paint or varnish, but a new type of finishing material and a new method which is being adopted by many leading auto factories," Cramer said. "The finish looks better after six months' use than at time of application. Road dust and dried mud may be rubbed off without damage to the finish."

"Due to the exacting regulations of the Mimax system, a refinishing shop must be qualified in equipment, facilities and experience before it is eligible to become a licensed station."

TALBERT

TALBERT, Feb. 27.—The ranch home of Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Swift was the hospitable center of social activities for the Women's Relief corps No. 110, of Huntington Beach, when Mrs. Swift, a member, entertained at the monthly sewing bee.

A sumptuous pot-luck dinner was furnished by the women and served at a prettily appointed table tastefully decorated in sweet peas in tints of pink and white by Mrs. Swift.

After dinner, the party enjoyed a social hour, when games added diversion and then the corps members proceeded with the object of the meeting, the piecing of quilt blocks.

In the company enjoying Mrs. Swift's hospitality were Mrs. Mamie Sorenson, Mrs. Emeline M. Lewis, Mrs. Frances C. Murphy, Mrs. Mary McGitt, Mrs. Bertha Criley, Mrs. Louisiana McFarlan, Mrs. Agnes Gallienne, Mrs. Clara Chamberland, Mrs. Sadie Lewis, Mrs. C. C. Murphy, Mrs. E. Helm, Mrs. Pearl M. Jones and daughter, Margaret; Mrs. Harold Swift and son, Milton; Mrs. Adeline Johnson, Mrs. C. C. Vincent, Mrs. Nellie Shoemaker, Mrs. Irma Prayzek, Mrs. Nellie Ballard and son; Miss E. E. French, Mrs. Maybelle Claughner, Mrs. Maude Brown, Mrs. Minnie A. Higgins, Mrs. Emma Sylvester, Mrs. Annabell Taylor, Miss Mildred Swift, Mrs. Henrietta Robinson, Mrs. Carrie Crane, Mrs. Kate Cochran, Mrs. Martha Hearn, Mrs. Frances Clark, Mrs. Deloras L. Morrison, Mrs. Roxie Bennett, Mrs. Mamie Cotts, Mrs. Luella Rudisill, Mrs. Adeline Johnson, Mrs. Buelah Westmoreland and C. C. Murphy.

George Bartol, Ben Cox and Earl Jesse were among Talbert people who attended the San Bernardino orange show Monday evening.

The last cutting of cauliflower on the S. E. Talbert 10 acres was made Wednesday.

Miss Mildred Swift has been ill with an attack of tonsillitis.

It is understood that the Showens place, which has been famed by Joe Tarada, has been leased to a party who will put the acreage to berries.

S. E. Talbert has completed his contract with the Pacific Electric railroad for the repairing of the coast line, which was undermined by the high water and has moved the crew working there to the high school to increase the crew which he has on the excavating contract.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper have named their little daughter whose birth was an event of February 20, Betty Jane. Mrs. Harper and child are at the Santa Ana Valley hospital. Mr. Harper and little Marjorie are staying at the home of Mr. Harper's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Harper.

Celebrating the fourth anniversary of their marriage, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harper on Wednesday evening entertained a party of their friends at their home. Games were introduced and dainty refreshments of ice cream, cake and candies were served by the hostess at a late hour. The guests entertained included Miss Dora Davis, Irving Davis, Antone Gisler, Miss Louise Wardlow, Miss Helen Wardlow, Miss Martha Wardlow, Miss May Worthy, Willie Starkey, Harold Gisler, Miss Lucille Gisler, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Walker and daughters, the Misses Elmore and Bernice, of Santa Ana; Miss Ruth Harper, Mr. and Mrs. Jake Starkey, Miss Dorothy Rogers and Charles Johnson.

Ranchers are again in the midst of their irrigating. In spite of the recent heavy rain, many of the ranchers pumped even while it rained. Those who will raise peppers and pimientos this season are completing the preparation of their ground this week and will begin their planting of seed the first of March.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rivers are both ill with influenza. Mrs. Rivers, who was taken ill first, is somewhat improved but Mr. Rivers is still confined to his bed.

AUTO CAMPERS SPEND BILLION IN LAST YEAR

Facts and figures presented in the current issue of the American Motorist, the official publication of the American Automobile association, show for the first time the tremendous magnitude that motor camping is assuming in the outdoor life of the nation. According to these figures, motor campers alone spent more than one billion dollars during the 1925 touring season.

The American Motorist data shows that altogether 3,000,000 cars, containing 12,000,000 people, enjoyed motoring vacations "under canvas" during the last touring season. The average vacation of these campers was 33 days and the average amount of money expended by each camping party was $7.17 per day.

Thus the cost of maintenance alone of this army of wayfarers was $710,000,000. The average cost of camping equipment was $193 and as one-third of the camping cars were first timers they spent $193,000,000 on equipment, while the other two-thirds spent $58 each on outfit renewal, meaning an investment of $116,000,000—altogether a total expenditure of $1,024,000,000 by auto campers in one year.

Regarding allegations that this army of automobile campers is bad for the hotels and resorts that normally cater to motor tourist traffic, the Motorist says:

"The fact is that they are assets, directly or indirectly. The time has passed when a camper sets up his tent every night. In bad weather and periods of lassitude he flees into the hotel. Thirty-three per cent started out last year with the intention of obtaining meals or shelter during part of the time in hostleries.

"The real competitor to the hotel is not the camper. The biggest competition, which is frequently overlooked, comes from the farmhouse and the gas station with the sign displayed, 'Tourist Accommodations Here.'" panied home by his brother, Hubert Cox, who has been visiting the past three weeks in that city with his sister, Mrs. Anna Howard.

Two Japanese houses were moved this week from the A. F. Swift ranch onto the Robert Gisler ranch. The S. E. Talbert housemovers made the move. Mr. Talbert also moved a building Thursday for the Royal Packing company from Western avenue, north of Westminster, onto the Anaheim Sugar company's land at Talbert, where Japanese ranchers are located.

The steel oil derrick which was torn down on the Von Schiltz lease when it was abandoned, was taken this week to the Brea field by the Shell company. The tanks are still on the ground.

The Greatest January in History!

Announcement of tremendous price reductions and vital improvements was followed by the greatest January in Dodge Brothers history.

Retail sales for the four weeks ending January 31st were 14,943, an increase of 67.4 per cent over the same period of 1925.

Mid-summer business in January!

When the drastic reductions went into effect, Dodge Brothers, Inc. said frankly that they were offering the greatest values in their history.

How well the public realizes that these really ARE the greatest values is proved in a definite and emphatic way by the remarkable record for January.

PROPERTY IN YORBA LINDA UNDER LEASE

YORBA LINDA, Feb. 27.—Signing of leases with two companies new to the Yorba Linda district, erection of new derricks and announcement of much work on the part of the larger companies now operating in this section, marked the week in oil developments.

J. F. Prather, rancher living east of Rose drive at the north edge of Yorba Linda tract, signed leases Wednesday with the Temple Oil company on his ranch. The firm has interests at Signal Hill, Huntington Beach and in Ventura county, and has agreed to start a well on the Prather ranch within 90 days. Terms include $5 per acre rental for 90 days and then $10 per acre per month, the first year to be paid in advance at that time. Royalty is provided of one-eighth if a 100-barrel producer is drilled, one-seventh if production is 150 barrels or over, and one-sixth if production is 250 barrels or more per day.

The Prather ranch has never been leased before, and the company is trying to get additional acreage south and east, near Carleton townsite.

The Chickson Oil company secured a lease Wednesday on the Harry Hoben property, just west of Yorba Linda lake. This company is also expected to secure leases covering the J. B. Hayton ranch of five acres, which adjoins the Hoben ranch on the north.

Preparations of the Standard Oil company to drill on the Yorba Linda lake property of the Anaheim Union Water company caused the Chickson to secure this lease, which does not provide for early drilling. The Chickson is now drilling on the Robertson ranch on Gaudin avenue near Carolina street, and may come to Yorba Linda when that well is completed.

Lumber is on the ground and the derrick will rise soon on the well to be sunk on the C. C. Wagner ranch, west of Yorba Linda at the intersection of Alta Vista street. S. B. Herndon is in charge for a group of oil men.

Directors of the Yorba Linda Water company, at a special meeting, agreed to sell water to this well during the spring months, until the ditches of the Anaheim Union Water company are flowing, when the company will get water at the Wagner place. Pipe was delivered yesterday for the water line.

Water is hindering the bringing in of the E. L. Blanton well on the Gaudin ranch. Drillers believe a good cement job was done and that there is a hole in the casing.

Ruby Arnett Is Married to Vern Rodge, Riversider

WESTMINSTER, Feb. 27.—Miss Ruby Arnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Arnett, was married here Thursday at noon to Vern Rodge, of Riverside.

The wedding ceremony was performed by the Rev. R. A. Weld, pastor of the Presbyterian church here, in the home of the bride on California avenue, in the presence of close relatives.

The living room of the Arnett home was beautiful for the occasion, with smiling and fern festooning artistically in arbor effect. Entering on the arm of the groom, the bride took her place under the bell, where the pastor read the age old lines which united them. The double ring ceremony was used. Miss Arnett was lovely in a gown of grey satin, and carried a bridal bouquet of butterfly roses and maidenhair fern. Mrs. O. B. Byram played Lohengrin's Wedding March as the couple entered. The bride received a number of pretty gifts.

A delicious wedding dinner was served at 1 o'clock, after which the couple departed for a honeymoon trip in Imperial valley.

The bride is a native daughter, having lived in Visalia until five years ago, when the family moved to Westminster.

The groom is also a Californian, and at present is employed by C. C. Murdy, local contractor.

On their return from San Diego county, Mr. and Mrs. Rodge will take up their residence in Westminster.

Those present at the marriage and dinner were Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Thompson and children, of Laguna Beach; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Truitt and children, of Garden Grove; Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Byram, of Westminster, and the bride's immediate family, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Arnett, and Lillian, Mary, Marie and Harvey Arnett.

11 ADMITTED INTO BEACH LEGION POST AUXILIARY; CAMPAIGN ENDS MARCH 1

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 27.—Eleven new members were admitted into the American Legion auxiliary February 24, when members of the organization met in Legion hall. The total of new members this year is now 17, it was reported. The membership drive will end March 1.

Plans for a card party to be held March 8 were laid by the members of the organization. Mrs. A. E. Woolard, chairman of the finance committee will be in charge.

Members of the local organization will send a large bouquet to the veterans' hospital at San Fernando at the opening of the building on March 7. Mrs. Evelyn Rider, chairman of the rehabilitation committee, announces.

The local auxiliary will show the American Legion poppy film. The organization reconsidered a previous decision not to use the film and ordered it at the meeting Wednesday night.

Mrs. L. W. Briggs and Mrs. W. W. Crozier were the hostesses at the meeting. Refreshments were served.

NEWPORT PUPILS HAVE HIGH GRADES

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 27.—The honor system in the Newport Beach school is working efficiently, with a large number of pupils trying for the 90 per cent plus average.

The thing that makes it especially enticing is the fact that the Santa Ana Junior high school accepts the grades made here to apply on an honor pin which is given by the Santa Ana institutions.

Elsie Starck, of the eighth grade, who made her debut as an honor pupil last quarter, leads the whole school with an average of 97 per cent. Elsie has not been tardy or absent this year and is very diligent in all her work. She is not resting upon past achievements but is aspiring for future honors in both high school and university.

Hazel Spencer has the highest average for the seventh grade for the second quarter. Her average is 95 per cent. At the end of the first quarter, her total average was just a fraction below that of her brother, who had the highest average for the school. This quarter, her brother has second place.

Charles Kavanaugh represents the sixth grade with an average of 95.3 per cent. The competition is now keen among the several aspirants.

In the fifth grade, Vivian Edwards is again honor pupil, her average being a little over 95 per cent. Gentle Bowman's average was also higher this time, 92 per cent being her mark. As several pupils had 90 and 91 per cent, Vivian will have a harder race next time.

Patrick Jordan carried off honors in the fourth grade this quarter. The third grade teacher, Mrs. Bird, has been ill so that a fair decision could not be made as to the honor pupil of that grade. The boys and girls are getting good grades at the present time and whoever gets the highest average is going to have to work for it.

Marianna Brooks is the honor pupil of the second grade for the second quarter. Her work in all subjects, including deportment, is very creditable, her average being about 92.5 per cent.

As the first grade work is rather hard this year, and since Mrs. Tirrell does not care to try guess-work in the matter of determining the honor pupil of her grade, it is thought best not to include the first grade in the honor system.

S. A. Daughters To Present Flag

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 27.—The Daughters of Veterans of Santa Ana will present to the Laguna Beach Woman's club an American flag of silk, to be hung inside the clubhouse. Mrs. William Scammon, a Laguna Beach club member and also a member of the Daughters of Veterans, was the one who made the gift possible by her interest in the club. March 5 is the date set for the presentation. On the same day, a lecture on "Architecture" will be given in the clubhouse by Mrs. Frances Peters, state chairman of art of the C. F. W. C. In the evening, a reception will be held in Mrs. Peter's honor at the studio of Miss Anna A. Hills. Miss Letitia Parine, Southern district and Orange county chairman of art, persuaded Mrs. Peters to stop off in Laguna Beach on her way to San Diego, where she is to lecture.

Show Styles at Club Meet Monday

ORANGE, Feb. 27.—A fashion and trade at home program will be given by the Woman's club on Monday at the clubhouse.

Several living models from fashion centers will be present to demonstrate various styles. Mrs. Ruby Yeager, fashion expert with the May company, Los Angeles, will give a demonstration of fashions. Six girls from the Junior Woman's club will illustrate styles.

The trade at home part of the program will be featured in the refreshments, which will be devoted entirely by local merchants.

Mrs. B. D. Stanley has arranged the fashion show. Mrs. Cal Lester and Mr. William Woods assisted her in the program.

BRIDGE OVER ALAMITOS BAY REALITY SOON

SEAL BEACH, Feb. 27.—The vehicular bridge over Alamitos bay that has been agitated for a year seems now in a fair way to become a reality.

The Long Beach city administration is reported to have committed itself as being in favor of the proposition and has instructed its engineering department to prepare preliminary plans.

R. D. Van Alstine head of that department, was in Seal Beach recently and with P. A. Stanton went over the ground securing data for the preliminary plans.

An agreement has been reached with the Pacific Electric company, it is said, to allow the west end of the bridge to rest on the company's right of way.

The matter of financing is yet to be decided upon.

LAGUNA ARTIST IS GIVEN HONOR

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 27.—A unique distinction has come to a Laguna Beach artist by his selection as the first painter to hold a one-man show in the magnificent new Ainslie galleries in Los Angeles.

The galleries, which are on the second floor of the new $3,000,000 Barker Brothers' building, are the western display rooms of the Ainslie galleries of New York City. A private preview of Irving Manoir's work will be by invitation only but later the exhibition will be open to the public.

In the show, there will be examples of the exotic and dramatic screens picturing such alluring things as white peacocks, herons and flamingoes in the most dazzling combination of colors. Walling decorative pieces will be displayed. All these things have won great fame for their creator. Examples of Mr. Manoir's work are in many great galleries. He was invited to send in one of his landscapes to the Pan-American exhibition, which is still current in Los Angeles at the Museum of Fine Arts. That picture also won the landscape prize at the Laguna Beach Art association's show in August of this year. Mr. Manoir has just closed an exhibition of his decorative screens and panels at the Biltmore hotel, Los Angeles, and at the Pasadena Art Institute. He was formerly an instructor in dynamic symmetry at the Chicago Art Institute.

Laguna Bright With Butterflies

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 27.—A cloud of butterflies made Laguna Beach gay with borrowed color Thursday morning. Flying ahead of the dust storm which was blowing from the desert, the pretty, fluttering insects made the streets brilliant with streaks of gold, red and blue. There were not just a few butterflies, there were thousands and thousands of them. Little ones, big ones, brilliant ones, dull ones like moths. They flew with such force against the radiators of automobiles that they were made instant prisoners and the front end of some cars looked like an entomologist's exhibit of the latest things in spring butterflies. They flew in hordes down the streets until hundreds of them became exhausted and fell to the ground. It was a gay scene and a tragic one at the same time. Gay for the onlooker but tragic for the butterflies, for most of them will never find their way back to the warm interior of the country from which they came.

Mrs. Bertha N. Hunt, of Brea, the Orange county chairman, was in charge of the affair, with Mrs. J. P. Yontz, of Costa Mesa, as hostess.

Speakers for the luncheon were George W. Peabody, president of the Orange County Harbor Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Peabody spoke of the harbor and its natural origin, dating back to the year 1825. The talk was most interesting. It was followed by a talk by Harry Welch, secretary of the chamber, and a delightful boat ride through the harbor. Twenty-five of the civic and community chairmen were present, representing Orange county federated clubs.

POLICE ARREST FOUR BOYS ON AUTO CHARGES

ANAHEIM, Feb. 27.—Bringing to a close a brief but colorful career in auto stealing, in the course of which 10 cars were taken from their owners and abandoned at various points on the highway between Long Beach and San Bernardino, four youths have been apprehended by the Long Beach police, who admit the thefts, it was reported this morning. Ages of the youths range from 16 to 17.

Two of the youths are said to have been involved in juvenile court before and are now on probation. All have been turned over to the Long Beach juvenile court for disposition.

The roadster owned by H. H. Hunt, Anaheim shoe merchant, which was used by two of the boys in their wild career from Long Beach to San Bernardino, has been recovered by local authorities. All of the other machines involved have been recovered also, beach authorities report.

FIRE DESTROYS OLD BREA TANK

BREA, Feb. 27.—Fire destroyed the wooden oil tank on the hills above Brea yesterday afternoon. The tank, which is an old landmark in the oil field, was owned by the Shell Oil company. Built 80 years ago by Jim Jeffries, then a builder, later a pugilist, the tank had long since passed its day of usefulness. It is thought that the Shell company destroyed the tank, although officials were noncommittal when asked.

ANAHEIM HARD CIDER CASE JURY FAILS OF AGREEMENT AFTER DEBATING 2 HOURS

ANAHEIM, Feb. 27.—Charges of selling hard cider that was a little too hard to comply with the prohibition law still rest against Walter Rommell, proprietor of a refreshment stand at 137 West Center street, this city, since the jury trying the case in Judge Eldon V. Stark's court failed to agree and was dismissed.

Police Chief J. S. Martin and Motorcycle Officer Sawyer, of the Anaheim department, and Miss Emma K. Price, chemist at the county hospital, testified for the prosecution but after deliberating for nearly two hours, the jurors failed to reach any unanimous opinion in the case.

Rommell took the stand in his own behalf and denied all knowledge of the illegal contents of the cider. He claimed that he was not present when the cider was found in his establishment.

City Attorney George F. Holden appeared for the people and Leonard Evans conducted the defense. Date of the new trial has not been anticipated.

M'KENNEY NOT TO ENTER BOARD RACE

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Feb. 27.—W. L. McKenney, for the past 18 years a member of the grammar school board of trustees, will not be a candidate for re-election, he announced today. McKenney is the president of the school board and has served on both the grammar school and high school boards.

No one has declared for the school board but some rumors have been heard to the effect that a woman is needed on the school board, and it is expected that some prominent woman will be persuaded to run for the office.

R. J. Prescott and John H. Eader are the other two members of the school board.

The capacity of the tank was 25,000 barrels, and in early days, it was used to force oil into the first refinery established in this section.

WIND BLOWS BUGS FAR OUT TO SEA

NEWPORT BEACH, Feb. 27.—Fishermen, philosophers and optimists see good in everything.

Although strong winds blowing from the interior have kept the fishermen from going out in their tiny boats, they believe the wind is beneficial.

"Farmers of the interior district do not realize the good done by this wind," one of the fishermen declared yesterday.

It was explained that six miles out at sea, where the wind comes to a halt, millions of bugs blown from the interior country are encountered. Tired from fighting the wind, they fall into the ocean and drown.

Fishermen who have been caught in the winds which come from the interior declare that where the wind stops, they can hardly lay their hands down on the boat for the bugs.

LETTERMEN'S CLUB ADMITS 6 CANDIDATES

TUSTIN, Feb. 27.—Six new members were last night initiated into the Tustin High School Lettermen's club, which met for its annual banquet. Members of the organization adopted a new constitution, which provides for two meetings each year, one at the close of each school semester.

More than 32 athletes of the school were present. Lon McIntire acted as chairman of the banquet, which was served following the initiation of new members.

Following the initiation ceremonies and banquet, a short program was presented. The banquet was served in the high school cafeteria by Mrs. Keith DeLong, assisted by a number of the high school girls.

New members taken into the organization included Elmer Rittner, Dudley Crawford, Richard Ford, William Crawford, Charles Thorpe and Anthony Cardiel.

Other lettermen present included Lawrence Farrar, Cecil Suddaby, Alphonso Thierly, Yegalo Jimenez, Lon McIntire, Richard Harris, Thomas Crawford, Ira Graham, Truscott Lindsey, Ross Field, Reginald Rust, Charles Craft, Charles Crawford, Wayne Runnels, Leonard Coffman, Don Park, Ray Coffman, Herbert Holmes, Bert Runnels, Roy Benson, Foster Prather, Jack Crawford and George Harris. Principal J. W. Means, Coach Stewart White and Don Brunskill were the honorary members of the club present.

how-Can such Value be produced in a Six to sell for $855 here?

THE further you examine the new Star "6," the more you wonder how such value can be built into a car to sell, Delivered Here, for $855.

But it had to come. No longer will cars be priced haphazardly. The savings of volume production must be passed on to the buyer in greater value than ever at lower prices.

And Star is the first to not only build a quality car, but to take such advantages of manufacturing economies as to assure an as-tonishingly low price — $855 here.

Hundreds have already taken advantage of this new order, and so quickly as to establish a record, not only in sales, but in unanimous public approval.

Figure out what exceptional value these advance features represent. Then compare this new Star Six with cars costing up to $1600, and understand why the new Star Six represents the greatest value ever known in the light six field.

RAILWAY EARNINGS HELD INSUFFICIENT

CHICAGO, Feb. 27.—The net earnings of railroads in 1926 reached only what would have been a fair return five years ago, C. D. Morris, of the western railways committee on public relations, said in an address here.

"But during the last five years," Morris said, "about four billion dollars additional have been invested in railroads and no return whatever was realized last year on that amount."

Morris said that it is a certainty that the railroads must have an increase in rates or they must materially reduce the service they are now furnishing.

Miss Scott Is Party Honoree

HANSEN, Feb. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hammond, of Hansen, entertained last night in honor of their granddaughter, Margaret Scott, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. J. S. Scott, of Clay Center, Kansas, who announced her engagement to Walter Nobles, of Long Beach.

Besides the honoree and her grandparents, covers were laid for Mrs. G. O. Slater, of Los Angeles; Miss Beth Walker, of Anaheim; Miss Annie Anderson and Miss Margaret Clark, of Santa Ana; Miss Margaret Streets and Miss Gertrude Streets, of Long Beach.

The table was beautifully decorated with orange blossoms and sweet peas.

Miss Scott graduated from Occidental college two years ago and is a member of the Casa Colina society. She has taught in the McKinley school in Santa Ana for two years, having charge of language and hygiene in the primary department.

WINTERSBURG

WINTERSBURG, Feb. 27.—Meeting Wednesday for all day at the Methodist social hall, the women of the Wintersburg Mission society employed their time profitably by sewing for the Methodist hospital in Los Angeles. Three sewing machines were kept busy and 12 children's hospital garments were made. This was the extent of the material on hand and the women talk of making these meetings a regular affair but no date was set at this meeting for the next.

A pot-luck dinner at noon afforded opportunity for a social time. Attending the meeting were Mrs. Lillie Shaffer Moore, Mrs. J. Scott Willmarth, Mrs. A. Stenzel, Mrs. G. M. Roberson, Mrs. Thibault, Mrs. E. M. Fox, Mrs. Albert Ruoff, Mrs. Elmer Turner, Mrs. C. Moore and Mrs. E. Ray Moore.

In the afternoon, Mrs. E. Ray Moore gave a party at the hall where the missionary women were assembled for her small daughter, Florence Ray, who was celebrating her fifth birthday anniversary.

The banquet table was used and refreshments of cake and punch were served. Those present included Mildred Ruoff, Bobbie Shostag, Alice Slater, Fred Fox, Patricia Turner, J. D. Kanawyer and the honoree, Florence Ray Moore. The afternoon was passed by the children playing folk games introduced by Mrs. Moore.

Mrs. M. C. Hazard and Mrs. J. Jenkins were in Huntington Beach Wednesday evening attending the public installation services of the Maccabees. Mrs. Jenkins was installed as lieutenant commander and Mrs. Hazard as sergeant. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hicks were among Wintersburg people who were visitors at the installation service.

Mrs. Harry Woodington was taken very ill with influenza Wednesday.

Mrs. C. A. Stockton, of Santa Ana, spent Monday night and Tuesday in the home of her brother, W. W. Blaylock.

Mrs. Lola Burger entertained as over night guests in her home, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Spore, of San Diego.

The Queen Esther and the Junior Queen Esthers are to hold meetings on next Thursday evening.

Local seniors in the Huntington Beach high school joined Tuesday in the annual "ditch" day festivities, which took the form of a mountain outing. Ten years transported the young folks, about 100 strong, on their excursion, a part of the crowd enjoying the trip to Forest home in the San Bernardino mountains and the remainder going to the Silverado canyon.

The class members from this vicinity included Miss Muriel Moore, Miss Alberta Turner, Miss Zola Nichols, Miss Mildred Payne, Miss Opal Vanduff, Miss Julie Playlock, Miss Marie Barthole, Miss Katherine Noble, Miss Clara Kamey, Peter Grana and Fred McMillan. Mr. and Mrs. Noble, of this place, chaperoned the local party.

Returning from Forest home, the Misses Alberta Turner, Muriel Moore, Julie Playlock, Mildred Payne, Zola Nichols and Opal Vanduff, who were occupying one machine, stopped in Orange at the J. W. Soden home, where they accepted the invitation of Mrs. Soden, who is a former Sunday school teacher of the young ladies, to be her guests at dinner, remaining over for a delightful evening in her home.

Mrs. Lillie Shaffer Moore, Mrs. J. Scott Willmarth and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Dean and small daughter drove to San Bernardino Tuesday to view the orange show.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gothard had their daughters and their son at home Wednesday. They were Mrs. Agnes Powell and her two children, of Colton; Mrs. Lawrence Buchanan, of Los Angeles; Mrs. Fred Vervoren, of Springdale, and Mrs. Forrest Sebastian of Smelter, and Joe Gothard and wife. The entire party took an outing into a mushroom hunt. Returning with three large buckets full of the plants, the party proceeded to enjoy a delicious mushroom feast that evening.

Continuing with their study of the New Testament, the members of the teachers' training class of the local Methodist church regularly each Wednesday evening following prayer service.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lacey, son-in-law and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Blaylock, are moving this

Clarkson Talks On New Zealand

LAGUNA BEACH, Feb. 27.—The Rev. Percy Wise Clarkson, rector of Trinity church, Orange, and of St. Francis-by-the-Sea, Laguna Beach, was the speaker before the Woman's club at the last meeting. The Rev. Clarkson chose for his subject the life and customs of the natives of New Zealand, known as the Maoris. The speaker was, for many years, a resident of New Zealand, having had a parish at least 100 miles in extent and in the heart of the Maori hot springs country of the North Island. That same parish is now divided into five distinct parishes. The Rev. Clarkson gave a splendid picture of the daily life of the natives and also an interesting catalogue of their virtues and vices. He was particularly interesting in his exposition of the laws in use in the islands and was most pertinent in his comments on the American lack of interest in the vote.

"In New Zealand," he continued, "women lose the franchise if they don't go to the polls and vote when they should. And the men are put in prison for not voting. If you Americans don't use your privilege you should lose it. And you should make fewer laws and see that they are kept. In New Zealand, the government finds out what the people want and then they see that the people get it. It is pure democracy."

Entering the club loggia in the costume of an old Maori chieftain, with a green stone club brandished over his head and with the tattooing of the Maoris copied on his face, the speaker was most dramatic and effective, as he shouted in the Maori language the Maori defiance of their enemies. A mat covering of kiwi feathers, rare and almost unobtainable now, was worn over a warrior's grass skirt. The kiwi bird is nearly extinct and but few travelers ever see it, except in the museums. The government refuses to allow the kiwi mats to be taken from the country except under special license and the birds are protected by the law. The green stone club carried by the speaker was a replica of a chieftain's sceptre. The New Zealand greenstone is also under embargo and cannot be taken from the country except by permission. It is rapidly disappearing owing to the inroads made by titled tourists years ago.

Agreement On Meats Reached

ANAHEIM, Feb. 27.—County Meat Inspector John H. Bower will hereafter supervise the inspection of all meat packing and meat marketing concerns of the city as the result of an agreement between the Anaheim trustees and the county board of supervisors.

The new inspector is authorized to provide suitable rules to insure sanitary conditions in meat handling establishments and to prevent the sale of unsatisfactory meat products.

Arrangements were begun for the drawing up of resolutions and ordinances to place the new agreement into effect immediately.

Protests presented by property owners on Oak street asking that plans for paving that street be abandoned, were overruled by the trustees and a resolution signed providing for the calling of bids for the work.

RICHFIELD

RICHFIELD, Feb. 27.—Mrs. J. S. Zuckerman, of the Richfield general store, is quite ill with influenza.

Miss Estella Hilla, of Pomona, has been a recent house guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Walker of Richfield.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Shields visited their daughter, Mrs. John Daley, in Ontario recently.

Mrs. J. W. Scott, of Seal Beach, is a house guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Taylor.

Mrs. Mary Martin, of Yorba Linda, was a visitor at the home of Mrs. E. P. Francis on Wednesday.

Miss Helen Shields, of Huntington Park, is at home with her parents for a few days' visit.

Mrs. E. P. Francis and Mrs. J. W. Lellis were visitors at Newport Beach Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howell Denton, of the Stearns-Thompson lease, have been entertaining Mr. L. S. Denton, of Sanville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Summers, old residents of Richfield, entertained a group of friends at their home in Fullerton recently. The affair took the form of a masquerade dance and card party. There were 30 guests present, among them being Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. O. V. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. C. Barbe, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Luzier and Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Luzier.

Returned to Huntington Beach from Redondo Beach, Mr. Lacey been transferred to that field by the Richfield Oil company.

Mr. A. Murdy, Mrs. Charles Part and Mrs. L. E. Barry were among local friends of the E. P. Baker family, of Westminster, who attended the funeral of Mr. Baker Wednesday afternoon at the Harrell undertaking parlors in Huntington Beach.

The pupils of the Oceanview school are busy training in all lines of athletic sports, preparing for a track meet which will be held later. The girls' basketball team is planning one more game this season, it is understood, but final arrangements for it have not yet been made.

A contest has just been concluded among the members of the seventh and eighth grades of the Oceanview school, in which the pupils were securing magazine subscriptions. The classes were divided into three groups, the Reds, Greens and Oranges, with a sales manager for each, a business manager over them and president, Prof. R. J. Shosag, over all.

The Reds won the contest with 48 points, the Greens coming in second with 19. The Oranges had nine subscribers. One of the girls secured the record number of 16 subscribers by herself. As previously arranged, a party will be given the winners, who have as their sales manager, June Slater, in the near future.

RADIO PRINTING ARE LATEST DEVELOPMENTS

By REIDMAN

The broad station, as an institution, circa's twentieth-century cotton to intellectual progress.

The broad station is as typically American as front porches and rockers. As an institution it furrows the mental furrows of the nation.

Broadcasting presents the next intellectual and social progress. Johann Gutenberg's radio printing.

The radio who spends his time tuning in stations to select the station which pleases him and whose major problem is to select the station which pleases him and whose major problem is to select the station which pleases him.

A close study of the programs of leading casting stations shows that there of a radio set does not have out of his own home to get the mental satisfaction.

The musical entertainment feature of leading stations is popularly known as "Entertainment." Entertainment ranging from the world's greatestists are broadcast daily.

All forms of musical entertainment, ranging from the world's greatestists are broadcast daily.

Minstrels, singers, jokes and all other form of musical entertainment are broadcast.

Plays, short stories, condensed novels, book reviews are also a feature. Card games, bedtimes, "comic strips," style to shopping guides and advertisements are put on the air.

Clubs are organized in which interested listeners obtain membership. Such clubs are dancing, swimming and dining lessons, horoscopes, numerology and astrology talks provide a social interest to listeners.

Daily physical exercises and health talks are given to listeners physically fit.

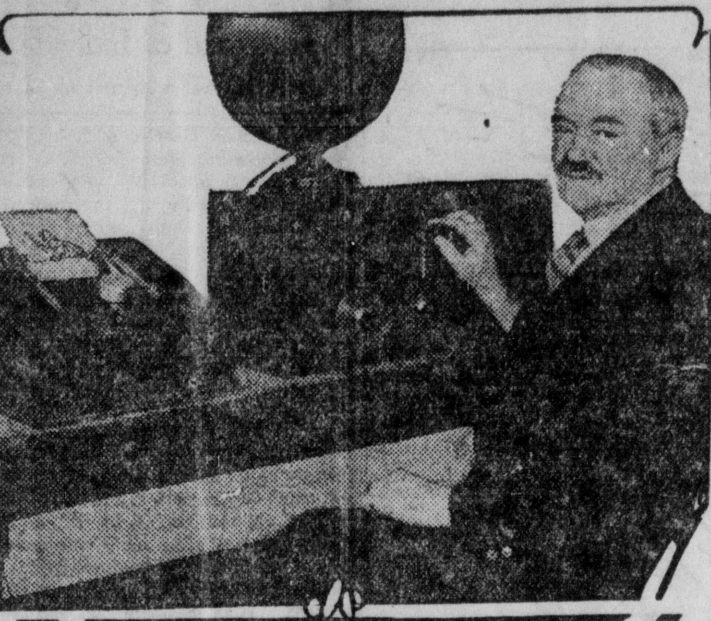

A vast and complete educational program has been sponsored by broadcasting stations. A multitude of home economics including cooking, sewing and home-keeping lessons, home to do domestic advice are broadcast daily for women.

Great educational institutions as our modern schools, universities, trade and professional colleges and government departments broadcast educational courses.

Here, the radio listener can receive all the practical and intellectual knowledge desired. Popular talks on science, literature, travel and such practical subjects as the care of the auto business are sent out by the station.

WORKS BY RADIO WAVES

C. Francis Jenkins is shown with his latest invention, a mysterious "radio pen." This pen draws cartoons, maps or other pictures as they are broadcast miles away. The receiver for this new picture receiver can be plugged into any tube receiving set through the loud speaker jack. Jenkins is shown with his picture receiver attached to a radio set. These pictures are registered in ink.

UNDERGROUND AERIALS

Frank Schmidt and Harry Glover are conducting experiments to eliminate static by use of underground aerials and receivers. They have set up a complete radio receiving set in a cave near Tucson, Arizona, and have succeeded in reducing static about 50 per cent.

MUSICAL FIREMEN

Many persons associate firemen with music only in connection with those two immortal ditties, "Fireman, Save My Child," and "Oh, for the Life of a Fireman." It's all wrong. Musical firemen in Milwaukee are now broadcasting regularly from station WHAD.

RADIO COMMUNICATION

Radio proved a boon in the flooded areas of Europe recently. When the inhabitants of Cannes, France, were cut off from the world 36 hours their only means of getting communication from the outside world was by listening to radio reports.

The Department of Commerce is receiving many requests from broadcasting stations to allow the use of increased power. The department is willing to grant the increase if it is beneficial to the public and does not cause interference.

Culture open a large field to the mental development of listeners. The church, Sunday school lessons and sacred music have a distinct and important role in radio broadcasting.

A review of big news events and comments, stock market quotations, police reports, weather and time signals and talks by prominent individuals on important subjects keep the radio listener well informed.

The broadcasting station, being typically American, has condensed all the educational, artistic, informative and entertaining knowledge that the mind requires and offers it to listeners in their own home.

AMATEUR RECORD

Earl Chang, owner and operator of amateur radio station 8GO of Vancouver, B. C., has added new laurels to the crown of amateur radio in Canada. He recently carried on a two-way contact with the station of Luis M. Desmaras of Santiago, Chile.

HIGHEST RADIO FEE

Challapin, the world-famous Russian basso, is said to have received the largest sum ever paid a person for broadcasting a concert. The fee which Challapin received amounted to $3250 when he broadcast an hour's concert from station 2LO, London.

RULES OUT CHARGERS

The city council of Zanesville, O., has passed a law against the use of a battery charger of the vibrator type between the hours of 6 p. m. and 5 a. m. This ordinance was passed to prevent radio interference from that source.

LAUDER BROADCASTS

Harry Lauder is the latest artist to be won over by radio. Recently he broadcast a concert from station 2LO, London. Lauder sang for a half hour to the largest audience he has ever performed for.

BIG MUSICAL LIBRARY

Equipping a musical library to meet the demands of aerial entertainment is a large task. The library of station KDKA represents an investment in excess of $5000.

George Varnum Hears Classmate

ANAHEIM, Feb. 27.—George Varnum made a business trip to San Diego Thursday and while there attended the monthly luncheon of the bar association. The speaker was H. C. Gardner, a classmate of Varnum. The subject was a new one, "The Human Side of the U. S. Supreme Court." Mr. Varnum expects to arrange for its delivery before the Los Angeles Bar association in the near future.

Freight Rates On Lumber Too High

WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.—The Interstate commerce commission has ruled that present rates on lumber and related commodities from Washington, Oregon, Idaho, Montana and California to points in Iowa were unreasonable and prejudicial. The commission ordered that the railroads serving the territory prescribe new rates before May 17.

EVENING SALUTATION

From this day on, I mean to do the best I can. If I am right, time will prove it. If I am not right, ten angels swearing I am right will not make it so.—Lincoln.

ALL TOGETHER—LET'S DO IT!

That is a laudable ambition of Tom Talbot, chairman of the Orange County Board of Supervisors, to secure the property of the Bolsa Chico Gun club, on the seashore of Orange county, for a state park and fish and game preserve. The success of this project would be a wonderful thing, not only for Orange county but for all of Southern California. And while it is a big undertaking, the success of this is not at all an impossibility—indeed the substantial and conservative men who are back of it are very confident of its success.

However, to insure its success every civic organization in the county ought to get behind it with 100 per cent enthusiasm and determination, and every possible influence ought to be brought to bear wherever influence will do the most or any good.

Nearly if not quite all of the seashore in Southern California north of the southern Orange county line has already passed into private ownership, and most of it has already been improved or subdivided, or encumbered in such a way as to make it unavailable, even by purchase or condemnation, for a public seashore resort. If we wait a few years or even a few months longer we shall probably be forever barred from accomplishing anything of that kind.

With the Bolsa Chico Gun club property in the hands of men of large wealth and fine intelligence and public spirit, the possibility of securing it for public purposes seems very bright indeed. At all events it is well worth making prompt, energetic and persistent effort to do so.

OLD DEBTS AND NEW LOANS

American loans and investments abroad are rolling up right along, surpassing both principal payments and interest payments from our foreign debtors. There is possibly half a billion a year due our investors in dividends and interest, but most of it remains abroad, being reinvested there, along with the new loans.

How long can this last? What it amounts to is that we are still lending Europe money to pay her old debts, and lending it faster than we are getting it back. Sooner or later American capitalists will probably get tired of this one-sided business, and turn their money into domestic investment. Then Europe will owe us, right along, more than she is getting from us in new cash.

One of two things must happen then. Either the debtors will default in payments, or the debtor countries will send us a steady surplus of goods in lieu of money.

The latter would mean an excess of imports over exports for the United States, usually interpreted as "unfavorable trade balance."

It might depress American industry, though that is by no means certain. Those who think it would do so have a good argument for discouraging new loans to old debtors, and urging the use of American money for the development of American resources.

It can hardly be any longer a question of "saving Europe," as it was when the first reconstruction loans were made. There is danger now of wakening the economic stamina of debtor countries by getting them to depend on continual borrowings from this country instead of depending on themselves.

THE JOKER IN ANARCHY

Will Rogers tells a story about a Florida colored man who went back to Africa to spend his declining years, because he heard that everybody could live the way he wanted to there. After a while he appeared again in Florida, pretty badly used up, with a lot of contusions and scars. When they asked what was the matter with African life, he explained:

"Well, I ain't got more'n a century to live now. I reckon, an' it's easier on my constitution to live where nuffin's lawful than to try to live where nuffin's unlawful."

That's a fine comparison of government and anarchy, which ought to reconcile a lot of free thinkers to ordered social life.

We have many laws here in America, and we think sometimes that we suffer intolerably under them. But too many laws are far better than none at all—at least, until that millennial time when human nature shall have developed so far that nobody will want to do any harm to anybody else.

We want to be free, of course; but the joker in the anarchist theory is that, in our imperfect state, we can't stand the other fellow's freedom.

THE PRICE OF GENIUS

The new American prima donna, little Marion Talley of Kansas City, in the midst of her sudden triumph, realizes what a fix she has got herself into.

"I realize now to the fullest," she says, "how I must work."

The hundreds of congratulatory telegrams she has received have come mostly from successful people older than herself.

"I have hardly any young friends," she says, rather wistfully.

It is part of the price paid for early success, and a big price it is. Genius often doesn't seem to have much youth, or much association with youth. Its superior ability and energy drives it at once into association with older persons and mature minds.

Here is one of the consolations for not being a genius. The commonplace person can prolong his glorious youth, and make the most of it.

RAILROAD EXPENSE

Railroad terminal costs, says a transportation authority, are for too great in proportion to the cost of the whole system. Because of their expense, along with the cost of switching and loading, a ton of freight now has to be hauled 100 miles before it "begins to earn axle grease."

What to do about it? Avoid expensive terminals, piers and shipping rooms, in expensive and congested areas, he says. Locate freight yards as much as possible in outlying districts where land is cheap and plentiful, and establish union freight stations in centers of important districts for receiving and shipping.

Much more might be accomplished in this way, for the cheapening of railroad charges, than can be hoped for arbitrary orders for reduction of freight rates on the present basis. And it is something that the railroads can do for themselves, in accordance with their desire to "manage their own affairs."

AN AVIATION CLUB

From time to time ever since the day Glenn L. Martin persuaded a home-made airplane to hop off the salt grass flats at the end of South Main street, we have heard talk of establishing a permanent air field in Santa Ana. The organization of an aviation club in this city seems to us to be one of the most important steps that have been taking looking to the consummation of dreams of those interested in putting a field on the map, thoroughly equipped and widely known.

Commercial aviation is in its infancy in this country. The rapidity with which air mail service has increased and is increasing is an indication of what we may expect to see take place in other transportation that can use the air.

Within five or ten years, we are likely to have passenger planes making scheduled calls at the county field on South Main street. We may have mail planes and express planes.

Flying schools, aeroplane plants—these may come to us.

We might get them without effort, but we are more likely to get them through the activity of a strong aviation club such as is being organized here now.

Raw Reapportionment Plan

Stockton Independent
The San Francisco legislative delegation of 13 assemblymen and seven senators, is prepared to meet the Los Angeles all-parties reapportionment issue upon a basis of no loss of representation to San Francisco under the initiative measure that is in hand, according to a general summary of opinion expressed yesterday.

So writes William H. Jordan in the Examiner. It is naively frank. It is a combination of the two large cities upon the basis of mutual advantage against the country. The San Francisco delegation supports its contention of present representation by the claim that the federal census of 1920 did not give San Francisco a "square deal."

Every city and town in the country makes that claim. If the reapportionment is to be made on "claims" let it be consistent, or if it is to be based on the federal census let the census figures be accepted.

The only justification for the initiative is that the Legislature has not obeyed the mandate of the constitution in adopting a reapportionment measure at the first session following the decennial census returns. The constitution makes the census the basis. The Legislature may be guilty of an act of omission in not carrying out the mandate of the constitution, but the proposed initiative would positively go counter to the constitution by adopting different and varying standards.

This at least is a concession that the present constitutional provision does not fit present facts. When it was adopted it worked out an approximately fair distribution of representation between city and country. Certainly it is in the interest of public policy that that balance should be maintained. With the rapid development of the urbanization movement it will not be maintained unless the country districts look to their rights. The fairest suggestion has been that of giving control of the one house to the urban and the other rural population.

Legislative representation in this state is a fixed quality. Los Angeles cannot be given a large increase and San Francisco suffer no loss, without an unfair deprivation to the rest of the state.

Sentenced for Manslaughter

Tulsa Tribune
That Oklahoma City verdict sentencing a reckless auto driver to 12 years in the penitentiary for having killed a girl through criminally negligent operation of his car ought to have a sobering effect on motorists in this state. Several other convictions on similar charges have been registered against hit-and-run killers in state courts, but this 12-year sentence places the crime in its proper classification as a very serious one.

If the fellow who takes chances with the lives of others by reckless disregard of traffic safety knows he must pay a stiff penalty for any fatality which he causes, there will be less wild driving. Twelve years in the penitentiary is a long time. The precedent for that type of penalty in auto manslaughter cases now has been established.

Health Topics

By DR. HUGH CUMMING
Surgeon General, United States Health Service

CARE REQUIRED IN TYPHOID TREATMENT
EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fourth of a series of articles on typhoid fever. Tomorrow's concluding article will be: Measures of Control.

In what part of the body do typhoid germs grow? The germs of consumption or tuberculosis plants, for example, thrive best in the lungs or bone; diphtheria plants in the throat; malaria germs, which are apparently little animals instead of plants, live inside the red blood cells and give us chills and fever.

When you remember that red blood cells are only about 1-3200 of an inch in thickness and that these little animals live inside the red blood cells, you can understand how small they are.

In the first five days, the typhoid germs are found in the blood but they soon localize in certain tissues in the small intestine where they produce swelling and then ulcers. Here is where they do their greatest damage, although they are usually also in the kidneys and may be found in the spleen, in the bone marrow, and in various other parts of the body. They have even been found in the bright red spots on the skin which we see in this disease.

It is most important for you to know that typhoid fever is a dangerous disease and that it should be treated by a skilled physician assisted by a trained nurse, preferably in a well-equipped hospital.

It is difficult to treat a case of typhoid fever at home even with a good doctor and a trained nurse, the latter in constant attendance, without some risk to other members of the family and the patient. To attempt to treat such a case at home without a trained nurse to help to avoid the infection of others is taking chances.

The greatest care must be taken to disinfect all body discharges. Among the best disinfectants to use are crude creosol and crude carbolic acid solution. The doctor will give instructions how to perform this disinfection.

Dishes used by the patient should be kept apart and boiled in water. Nurses and others who come in contact with the patient must wash their hands carefully after contact with the patient before handling foods.

Where Angels Fear to Tread

Partnership in Education

Fresno Republican.

The controversy that is now raging over the supervision of public education in Mexico and the punishment of certain religious officials by deportation reminds us how much more fruitful, both for public benefit and private contentment and happiness, the American system is.

American public sentiment would not tolerate a rule of government that would regard the primary instruction of children as purely a state matter. Nor would American public opinion tolerate the establishment of primary education as purely an individual prerogative of the citizen-parent. If the citizen can educate his children as he pleases, so he could refuse to educate his children at all. This would not be a tolerable principle. The government in the United States can, and does, compel the parent to permit his children to be educated, if he does not provide that education himself. And the government also, under the force of public opinion, sees to it that the sort of education provided by the parent shall be up to a certain standard and shall include certain elements. And if the parent delegates this education to a private school rather than to the public school, then the government sees to it that the private school shall be at certain proper times subject to inspection and standardization. Education is, with us, a public matter. But it is not entirely a public matter. It is a partnership between the parent and the government.

World While Verse

RECESSIONAL

I left the town whose tattered hem
Is fingered first by spring's anemones,
For, notwithstanding jasmine stratagem,
Its little faded homes and friendly trees
Evoked in me no poet's imagery.
Ah, I would see the great things of the world!
Then write with such dynamic energy
That every word, triumphant, would be hurled
Into a heart.

And as I stood before
Niagara's swift, terrific force and heard
The pounding of its mighty, thunderous roar—
And there the tender twitter of a bird
Came faintly to my ears, with grace note chime, Bringing again a cowbell's tinkling sound,
Far down the lane at home at twilight time.

I stood before stone structures, world renowned—
And saw the old tip-tilted belfry tower
That leans a little tilted belfry low
To see its image, at the sunset hour,
Outlined where wondering water lilies grow
I saw a ship, the great Leviathan,
Come proudly into port with lifted throat
Flecked white with foam.

On my horizon's span,
A memory mirage, a slim, blue boat,
Moored idly to a water-rooted tree
Whose shattered petals form a fragrant foam,
Where once a redbird called good-day to me—
Ah, need I tell you I am going home?
—Hazel Harper Harris in Christian Science Monitor.

Tom Sims Says

There are so few ways of making money and so few ways of spending it.

While Congress is investigating the aluminum trust maybe they will find out how to keep frying pan handles cool.

The corn crop is not the only crop showing a surplus. Police report a surplus of wild oats sown.

Little Benny's Note Book

by Lee Page

Ma gave me a letter to mail
Saturday morning, saying, Now for goodness sakes, keep your about you like a human bean and not a wool gathering machine because this letter is very important.

Wy, ma, wats it about? I sed.
Never mind worrying about the inside, keep your eyes on the outside till its safely in the mailbox, ma sed.

Yes, mam, I sed.
And the first thing I knew something else happened and I forgot all about the letter and when I went home just before dinner it was in my inside pocket, ma saying, Benny, I suppose you mailed that letter.

Mam? Wat letter? I sed. O, that letter, sure I remember, I
sed. Thinking, G wizz, good nite, holey smokes, and ma sed, Im not asking you if you remember, Im asking you if you mailed it.

I bet that letter will be delivered the first thing in the morning, I sed. Meaning I would sneak out and mail it as soon as I had a chance, and ma sed, It should have been delivered this afternoon, wat time did you put it in the box?
Do you mean exactly wat time?
I sed.

O, I mean did you mail it wen
I gave it to you to mail, thats wat I mean, ma sed.
Not exactly, I sed.

Did you mail it at all for land sakes? ma sed.

Mam? No mam, not yet, I sed.
Im going to now, though I sed.
Wich I started to run out to do,
and ma sed, Wait, let me see that letter.

Being a good thing she asked on account of the outside being so dirty and mused looking ma had to put it in another envelope and then she looked out the window and kepp on looking out till she saw me put it in the mailbox.

In the Long Ago

14 Years Ago Today
From the Register Files

FEBRUARY 27, 1912
Attorneys have advised bond-buyers that the $200,000 Polytechnic high school bonds recently voted are illegal.

Bill Davis, Peatlands resident, was arrested and accused of robbing the Dryckman saloon at Newport Beach and of holding up the Newport Beach bank.

John Keefe, West Orange rancher, was arrested and charged with embezzling $5000 from two sisters at Milwaukee, Wis.

The Rev. W. W. Wotton delivered a farewell sermon to his congregation at the Church of the Messiah.
The Rev. Mr. Wotton has accepted a call to South Pasadena.

In a track meet featured by Adkinson's victory in the mile in 4:55, the Santa Ana high school team won from Huntington Beach, 73 to 49.

James Steele, a fisherman, was drowned at Newport Beach when he fell from his row boat.

ON THE SIDE LINE

A Record of Individual and Independent

(Which may or may not be in harmony with the views of the)

WAR AS A CURE-ALL—As has previously been noted in this column, not all the radical statements made in this country are made by men using a soap box as a forum.

For example, take the instance of Walter Ames, president of the American Chemical company, who spoke recently before the Pasadena Optimist club, and, according to published reports, said:

"England would welcome a war, not for war's sake, but in order to get rid of paying the heavy dose which is overburdening that country. The only way to get rid of the dose is to get work for the men and war seems to be the only possible way to create jobs for two million unemployed. If the dose is stopped rebellion would result among those who are receiving it and the burden is too great to continue it indefinitely."

It would be indeed difficult to conceive of a more uncharitable, illogical, and untruthful summing up of the political and economic policies of England than this, which is given out as an absolute statement of fact by "Mr. Walter Ames."

FUNNY MR. AMES—The redeeming feature—for there is a redeeming feature in connection with Mr. Ames' talk, and the publicity given it,—is the fact that the members of the Pasadena Optimist club seem to have a fully developed sense of humor.

One judges this to be the case from the newspaper report of his speech, which says that "Mr.
Ames kept his audience in a constant state of laughter by his witty remarks."

All right, Mr. Ames, if your picture of conditions in England was meant as a joke, and should be classed as one of the "witty remarks" above referred to—well, let's all laugh. We laugh, sometimes, at some woefully poor jokes.

THE LAW FORBIDS IT—Attaches of the governor's office at Sacramento are quoted as declaring that if Big Hutch persists in his refusal to return to this state for the purpose of serving further time in San Quentin he will not be permitted to enter California at any future time.

In other words, if he won't come back the governor's office won't let him come back.

Big Hutch may have been, and probably is, all kinds of a scoundrel, but to bar him entirely from entering California—Isn't that too severe?

Moreover, does not the law of this state, and of the United States, forbid the infliction of "cruel and unusual punishments?"

SOME WIND, THIS—For nearly one year this column, with its motto, "Nothing but the Truth," has regularly appeared in The Register. It may as well be confessed that it is somewhat difficult to live up to such a motto, but one can only do one's best.

And, since there has been no loud protest because of the appearance of that little story regarding the lost watch, perhaps this one, regarding the cyclone in Iowa, will also "get by."

A cyclone swept through a certain farming community in Iowa and when neighbors went out to look for one man and his family they couldn't find a thing at the former site of a house and farm building. While in search of the whereabouts of the family they heard a howling and finally located his head sticking out of a jug—and the jug been broken.

GLUTTON FORNISH-
MENT—So we are going to have Big Hutch out in the "midst" again, here the supreme court of the state has decided that the case was sent out of the state by the duly authorized officials of that commonwealth, and that this was done in pursuance of the decision Big Hutch must continue to endure.

Over the ordinary blather observed. It would be Big Hutch stands under punishment.

PRAYING FOR L—Not
those who have at diverse places, "resolved" ever of Governor Richardson being a candidate for chief executive of this great state, has as yet been favored with it.

And again one island of a little story:
"A certain preacher, called, "drafted," or over the proper term may be charge carrying a salary superior to that which he has been receiving."

"What is your paying to do about accepting or recting the call?" his little son asked.
"Well, papa is saying for light," was the answer. "He is praying, earnestly, fervently, for light. I notice, though, that mother has most pur things packed."

BE CAREFUL, YES—It is sincerely to hoped that the linotype band and readers will be called about the spelling of that "drafted," when it is used in connection with a candidate for office.

LOGICAL ARGUMENT—Any business of whatever nature, which grows rapidly in increasing growth, suffers a similar increase in its facilities for the proper carrying on of such business.

So that those who favor increased labor facilities for Southern California are upheld in their opinion by the fact that 307 vessels entered Los Angeles harbor during the month of January, indicating constant increase in foreign trade.

BAD DRALLY ANYWAY—
The bad check man is to begin a free rein, if the decision of one of San Bernardino county's superior court judges is to stand.

A man on trial for paying a debt with a check which came back marked "insufficient funds" was told "not guilty" by the jury, in order of the court.

The judge ruled that the person who accepted the check sustained a loss, by reason of it's not being paid. As the maker of the check still may be good law, as to this defendant is silent, but, say way or other, it seems to be fully bad morals.

Collected by Boston Transcript.

We expect two eyes for the loss of only one eye, and a whole set of teeth for the loss of only one tooth.—Benito Mussolini.

It seems hard for those of us who take the American tradition of liberty seriously to find American money bolstering up this open-a-bouffe Napoleon, Mussolini.

—Rabbi Stephen S. Wise.
Theatrical managers seem to me to be all quite mad.—G. K.
Chesterton.

There is such a thing in life as nobility, and novels which celebrate it will always be the novels which are finally loved.—Will
A. Cather.

If the early works of John Donne should be published now by the dean of St. Paul's they would command a large and scandalous sale.—Dean W. R. Inge.

We owe to Sweden dynamite, cordite and all manner of explosives, Strindberg included.—
Chancellor Brown of New York University.

For good capital and good technique, the Soviet Union is ready to pay good dividends.—Leon Trotzky.

It is better to be a good husband, father, brother, son, friend than to be a successful professional machine.—William Lyon Phelps.

I do not know that there will be any British national assets to deal with if Mr. Churchill remains at the exchequer for four or five years.—Philip Snowden.

No! I couldn't retire. Just like trying to stop smoking cigarets.—
Thomas A. Edison.

Amid industrial splendors the human race is in danger of losing its immortal soul.—Dr. Elias Lie-berman.

My experience is that the last thing wanted by those with whom deal is that I should do them justice.—Lord Justice Darling.

Of the men I have met with in my pages I should choose to live with Thackeray's Harry Esmond.—E. Barrington.

People with a taste for 1810
cognac write me notes to buttermilk-Booth Tarkington.

How am I going to make a living as an after-dinner speaker if H. G. Wells slanders me by calling me a bore?—Poulney Bigelow.

The world at large recognizes love, industry, character. It cares little for society; less for the social register.—Cornelius Vanderbilt Jr.

When everybody speaks well of a statesman, he is absolutely back number.—David Lloyd George.
